SPECIAL SESSION BELIEVED DOUBTFUL

POLL OF SENATORS SHOWS OPPOSITION COTTON LEGISLATION

STERLING INTIMATES SPECIAL COTTON SESSION WOULD BE FUTILE

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling said today a tabulation of replies from Texas senators showed a majority of them apposed to any plan to control cotton acreage by law and he believed it would be futile to call a special session to consider cotton acreage control.

It previously had been reported 11 senators favored acreage control legislation and nine opposed it. Eleven had not answered the governor's questionnaire.

These figures later were changed and Governor Sterling said it appeared to him it would be futile to summon a special session when a majority of members in one house opposed acreage reduction legislation. Names of senators answering the questionnaire were withheld.

He indicated he would decide the question today.

"If I called the legislature down here knowing they would not pass a law and they refused to pass one, I would be hanged to the highest limb in the state," the governor said. "The session would be called to help the farmer and if the senate refused to act, it would be of little aid to him."

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Prospects for an immediate session of the Texas legislature to consider cotton acreage control legislation were considerably dimmed today when a tabulation of the replies of state senators on the question revealed 11 were in favor of the session and nine were opposed to it.

Eleven senators had not been heard from.

Governor Sterling had no announcement to make today. He indicated several days ago he would not issue the call until assured a bill would be passed speedily. One senator favored the "cotton holiday" plan of Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana. Another favored either that plan or acreage

UNEMPLOYMENT IS BEING TACKLED BY NATION' LEADERS

REPRESENTATIVES AMERICAN INDUSTRY GIVING ATTENTION TO MATTER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The unemployment problem was tackled today by representatives of American industry through a committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The committee, headed by Henry I. Harriman of Boston, met at the chamber headquarters here to draft a report on the basis of many months of investigation.

Meanwhile, the chamber's first president, Henry A. Wheeler, Chicago banker, was organizing a committee under President Hoover's unemployment relief organization, to find means of increasing employment.

Wheeler was appointed yesterday by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, as chairman of the committee on employment plans and suggestions.

The relief organization also announced today through Fred C. Croxton, assistant director, a nation-wide back-to-school movement to be carried on by the churches. Croxton said Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches had pledged their co-operation.

The chamber committee was expected to devote two days to drafting a report which officials of the organization hoped would make recommendations not only for dealing with the relief problem, but for stabilizing employment in the future.

A mass of information has been gathered by the committee on the relief situation and on various plans for protecting employes from the hardships of periodical business cycles.

A survey undertaken by the committee of 1,000 cities has indicated that most of them are prepared to handle their own relief problems during the coming winter.

The group has also gathered information relative to various forms of unemployment insurance and plans for guaranteeing employment.

The most comprehensive study, and the one most likely to bear fruit in the report, was made on proposals for creation of a national economic planning board to coordinate prduction and consumption and thus eliminate the business cycle as far as possible.

RELATIONS BETWEEN CHINA AND MEXICO SEVERELY STRAINED

ANTI-CHINESE MOVEMENT IN MEXICO STATES CAUSE OF GRAVE SITUATION

NANKING, China, Sept. 3.—(AP) C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the nationalist government, said today relations between China and Mexico had been strained "to the breaking point" since negotiations with Mexico City regarding the anti-Chinese movement in Sonora and Sinaloa had proved abortive.

"Desirous of obtaining a satisfactory settlement," said Wang, "China requested the American government, which accepted, to arbitrate the present dispute in accordance with the international convention at the second conference at The Hague.

"The American government further consented to grant temporary residence in United States territory to Chinese nationals compleled to evacuate Sonora and Sinaloa in order to avoid untoward incidents."

Wang outlined the growth of the anti-Chinese movement in Mexico since June, saying it was especially acute in Sonora and Sinaloa, where 80 to 90 per cent of the grocery stores where Chinese owned. He said the situation was further aggravated by the return to those states of thousands of Mexican who had lost their jobs in the United States owing to the depression.

"Repeated representations," said Wang, "were made to the Mexican government by Samuel S. Young, the Chinese minister, resulting in many assurances from the Mexican president that adequate measures would be taken to protect Chinese residents.

"During the negotiations the

Three Dead as Result Drinking Poison Liquor

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—(AP)—With three dead and one dangerously ill as the result of drinking what police said was poison alcohol, authorities sought today to learn the source of the liquor.

The dead were William W. Weller, a cook; Charles Clark, mechanic, and Ray Peters, also a mechanic. Alfred W. Maltby was in a hospital, where doctors said he had but a small chance to recover.

Examination of contents of the bottles from which the men drank led police to believe the liquor had been manufactured from rubbing alcohol.

They said they believed the liquor was manufactured hastily for sale during a fiesta which opens in Los Angeles tomorrow.

CHILD IS DROWNED.

AMARILLO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Funeral services for Don Rucker Bradford, 4, who fell to his death in a cesspool near here yesterday, were to be today. The boy drowned before his father could rescue him.

GOVERNMENT FACES RAPID INCREASE IN TREASURY DEFICIT

PRESIDENT CONSIDERS TAX INCREASE AND ANOTHER BOND ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The government is confronted by a rapidly increasing treasury deficit while the administration and its followers are seekng some means of bringing about economies.

As the national debt turns upward to $16,863,781,233, an increase of approximately a billion dollars in the past year, President Hoover is considering whether a tax increase or another bond issue would be the proper solution of the problem.

Efforts to curtail outlays in this new fiscal year apparently have met with but a modicum of success. Since July 1, the deficit in the treasury has grown to $395,365,000, with the receipts amounting to but $230,399,151 against outlays totaling $626,664,751. The deficit is $144,000,000 larger than that for the same two months last year.

The prediction that government expenditures for the next fiscal year would be cut drastically was made by Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee. His group originates all the appropriation bills providing funds for government operation.

The Indiana representative said slashes would be made in expenditures for the army and navy and expressed the hope the farm board would not ask for additional funds, it already having been awarded $500,000,000.

Wood declared that should the navy be built up to the London naval treaty limits it would have nothing to do. For some time, the Indianan has demanded curtailment of demands for appropriations and he declared:

"When the people were spending like drunkards, they didn't object to the government spending the same way. Now that the people have begun to spend seriously and soberly the government had better to begin to spend that way."

During the first two years of the Hoover administration, congress appropriated about $10,000,000,000, or nearly two billion in excess of any two years' appropri-

STIMSON RETURNS OPTIMISTIC OVER PERMANENT PEACE

ECONOMIC PROSPERITY IS SEEN AS RESULT OF THE HOOVER MORATORIUM

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson returned form aboard today with an optimisitc prediction that a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity will be built on the foundation laid by President Hoover's debt moratorium and the recent seven-power conference in London.

During his two months' stay in Europe, the secretary of state attended the London conference and held "informal conversations" with the prime ministers of England, France, Germany, and Italy.

Asked by newspaper men for his views about the general financial situation throughout the world, Stimson replied:

"I think there is now good reason to believe to European statesmen, taking advantage of the respite granted by Mr. Hoover's moratorium as well as the recommendations of the London conference, are beginning gradually to lay the foundations of political good will, upon which a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity can finally be rested."

"The month which has elapsed since the close of the seven power conference in London has given us a chance to begin to appraise the result of that conference and of the various meetings which have preceded and have followed it.

"From the information which has come to me I believe that Germany has received a new spirit of courage and confidence. The result of the recent plesbiscite in Prussia; the fact that on the day when the German banks reopened the deposits exceeded the withdrawals, together with many other similar indications, all point to more hopeful conditions and spirit.

"Even more encouraging have been the meetings of the French and German ministers and the friendly and conciliatory spirit in which Prime Minister Laval and

STERLING AGREES TO GIVE PRORATION ORDER FAIR CHANCE

NEW CONSERVATION LAW WILL GO INTO EFFECT SATURDAY 7 A. M.

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A source close to Governor Ross S. Sterling reported today that martial law in the East Texas oil field will be lifted Saturday morning to permit the new order of the Texas railroad commission to go into effect at 7 a. m. on that day.

A report to that effect, heard from two different sources, was confirmed by one in close touch with the situation and left no doubt as to the intentions of the governor.

The governor was reporetd to have told the comission the order would be given a trial to see if it would prove onerous.

It was learned the governor had offered the commission the use of troops in the field to aid in enforcing the order of needed.

Governor Sterling indicated that he might have a definite announcement to make late today on the situaton.

It was learned the commission had issued orders to their 24 deputy supervisors ordering them to report for work in the field starting Saturday. Twenty-six men will be included in the commission's enforcement agency.

Navarro County Cotton Crop Estimated 82,500 Bales; Staple Is Good

With a decrease in acreage estimated from ten to twelve and one-half per cent, present crop conditions point to an increase in production of approximately 12,500 bales over last year when about 70,000 bales were produced in this county. This places the estimated production at 82,500 bales in Navarro county from the 1931 cotton crop. The estimate is based on normal weather conditions during the remainder of the season. These figures were arrived at after a careful survey of present cotton conditions in the county.

The average cotton crop in this county for the past eleven years has been 79,422. The highest yield in that period was in 1920 when 99,058 bales were produced and the lowest yield was in 1921 with a production of 50,898 bales. In 1922 there were 72,976 bales raised, in 1923 the production was 90,096, in 1924, 84,003 in 1925, 75,059; in 1926, 78,088; in 1927, 73,850; in 1928, 84,947, in 1929, 75,428 and in 1930, 69,245. It will be seen from these figures that the estimated production this year is just above the average crop.

Cotton is two to three weeks late this year due to the late spring rains. However, cotton grew well from the start, the season being so well advanced. There were no excessively heavy rains during the summer but showers in most of the county during July kept it growing steadily. July rains are unusual in this county and not only kept cotton growing but are largely responsible for the good feed crops raised.

There were far less insects in cotton this year than usual. In the early part of the season some complaints were heard about the cotton flea but it was not general. Deterioration started later than usual in cotton this year. Usually the crop starts deteriorating in the early part of August when the excessively hot weather starts, but there were no hot winds, comparatively speaking, this year to burn up the crop. In some sections where there was very little rain in July the crop burned considerably and deteriation started earlier and was worse than in the sections which were fortunate enough to get the heavier rains.

Some Dry Sections.

The section of the county around Dawson, was perhaps the hardest hit by the dry weather. There was a strip through the southwestern part of the county that did not get several of the showers that fell over most of the county. The production in that section of the county is estimated by many at about last year's production, but it will probably exceed that.

Other sections of the county will make considerably more than last year and the largest increase is expected in the eastern part of the county in the Kerens section. Kerens is expected to weigh well over 20,000 bales this year. Emhouse, Rice, Roane, Chatfield, Frost and other communities will also raise more cotton than last year.

The proportion of lint to seed cotton is high this year and the staple grades well. Most of it is 15-16 to an inch, which is considered exceptionally good staple.

Top prices are being paid here for the staple this year. If the county produces the estimated 82,500 bales and the farmer only gets six cents per popnd it will bring $2,375,000 to the county.

Plenty of Feed.

With plenty of feed for all livestock and more food than in years canned and prepared for winter consumption, the farmer bids fair to be in much better condition than was anticipated. The picking will enable hundreds to find employment and will provide money for the necessities of life through a long period for it will take some time to gather a crop of that magnitude. To be sure prices are low for both the farmer and the laborer but what they do get will buy more than it formerly did. No trouble has been encountered in securing pickers this year.

Raise Food Supplies.

Farmers this year have produced one of the best feed crops in years and in addition have raised more vegetables and food supplies than usual. They also have canned and otherwise prepared more

NAVARRO COUNTY FARMERS IN FAVOR COTTON REGULATION, INDICATED BY QUESTIONNAIRE

According to replies to a questionnaire sent by the Daily Sun to more than 40 correspondents in all sections of the county, the farmers, by about a four to one majority, are opposed to the Long plan for complete prohibition of cotton planting, but favor a reduction in acreage of 50 per cent. Some favor various reductions, ranging from one-third to one-half but practically all of them agree that something must be done. Sentiment in favor of legislation regulating cotton planting prediminates. Some, however, are opposed to controlling farm work by law.

The Daily Sun received 29 replies to the questionnaire sent out and of this number 23 were in favor of a reduction of 50 per cent, five favored the Long plan and in one community the sentiment was so divided that no accurate guage could be ascertained.

The replies of the correspondents in the various communities follow:

Blooming Grove.

Representative men of the Blooming Grove community are of the opinion that about 5 per cent of the real farmers want complete prohibition of cotton planting in 1932 and the remainder are in favor of a 50 per cent reduction, with a few wanting a reduction of one-third. All want something done.

Dawson.

A meeting attended by prominent land owners and farmers was held at Dawson and the sentiment of that gathering was almost unanimously in favor of a reduction of 50 per cent in cotton acreage. Opposition was expressed to the Long plan of complete prohibition.

Frost.

Eighty per cent of the farmers

Ben Richards Is Granted Pardon By Governor

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Full pardon and restoration of citizenship was granted today to Ben C. Richards, Jr., of Dallas, by Gov. R. S. Sterling.

Richards was convicted in Dallas in June, 30, on a forgery charge.

The pardon proclamation, dated August 12, was filed today with the secretary of state. Richards had been out on parole for several weeks.

Richards was involved in the Mayfield election bet case, a dispute over which caused a fatal shooting.

He had served eight months of his prison term and had gained nearly seven months time off for good behavior.

The application for the pardon was signed, the proclamation stated, "by practically every business man in Dallas; by doctors, court judges, attorneys, state representatives and senators, numerous prison officials, scores of other citizens of Dallas and McLennan counties and many pastors of churches in Dallas."

The proclamation stated the governor had been advised Richards' conduct had been excellent since released on parole.

ABANDONMENT OF CUSTOMS UNION IS ANNOUNCED TODAY

GERMANY AND AUSTRIA TO PURSUE OBJECTIONABLE AGREEMENT NO FURTHER

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Germany and Austria, acting through their foreign ministers at the Pan-European commission, today renounced the customs union they proposed several months ago.

Dr. Johan Schober, attending for Austria, said his government had arranged wth Germany to pursue the matter no further, and Dr. Julus Curtius of Germany concurred.

Their action anticipates a decision by the world court, to which the customs arrangement was referred for an opinion.

Spokesmen for France, Italy and Czechoslovakia cordially welcomed the decson of Austra and Germany, Dno Grandi, Italian foreign minister, describing it as a promise of distinct improvement in the world's economic conditions.

Dr. Curtius expressed the conviction that a realization of the imperative necessity for European co-operaton had increased appreciably in the past few months, and asserted that closer economic co-operation between nations is the only way of improving economic conditions n Europe.

"I hope," said Dr. Schober, after he had announced that Austria would abandon the customs union, "that this declaration will contribute materially to clearing of the atmosphere so that the governments may co-operate constructively. The declaration which I have just made should serve to restore reciprocal confidence. The important thing now is that collaboration should in fact take place and that practical results should be attained."

FOURTH GOVERNMENT IN TWO MONTHS FOR CHILE IS FORMED

BELIEVE REVOLTING CREWS OF NAVAL VESSELS WILL NOW SURRENDER

VALPARAISO, Chile, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The entire Chilean navy revolted today. Some ships left Valparaiso to join the revolt, while others left the naval base at Talcahuano.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Chile's fourth government since the overthrow of President Carlos Ibanez in July was formed today and congress in special session declared a state of siege for 20 days to deal with the mutiny of the Coquimbo battle fleet.

Acting quickly on the resignation of the cabinet last night, provisional president, Manuel Trucco, offered a mandate to former Postmaster General Marcial Mora and the latter drew up a new ministry with himself as premier and minister of interior. He was given extraordinary power to put down the Coquimbo revolt.

The senate and the chamber voted to suspend constitutional guarantees only after a long debate. With the change in government it was believed that some of the demands of the mutineers had been met and that the revolt might be ended peaceably some time today.

Up to early this morning the mutineers refused to listen to Rear Admiral Von Schroeder who was sent by air to listen to their grievances over proposed cuts in salaries. Finally he was permitted to come aboard the flagship La Torre and he told the leaders the cabinet had resigned and a new one formed in its place.

His report was said to have pleased the insurgents who had demanded among other things that Finance Minister Blanquier resign, their commanders be changed and better treatment generally. On coming ashore Von Schroeder said he was pleased with the progress he had made and thought an early settlement was possible. The crews were given until four o'clock to make up their minds to surrender.

WISECRACK TO BECOME REAL IS BELIEF AS BARTER DAYS RETURN TO UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The question, "What're you going to use for money?" may become more than a wisecrack before the economic depression has ended.

Amused by news that a judge in Kentucky is performing marriages for so-many-peaches per ceremony, experts in two government departments today in all seriousness recognized a widespread reappearance of the ancient practice of bartering goods and services from person to person.

Whether proposed trades by governments of so much of this for so much of that commodity has made this nation barter-conscious seemed debatable. Dr. Theo. B. Manny, senior economist in rural sociology work in the agriculture department, said, however, the only situation that "approximated" the present was a wave of direct exchange that followed the Civil war.

Many protests have been forwarded to R. S. Hollings head, foodstuffs specialist of the commerce department, against the farm board's exchange of wheat for coffee with Brazil.

"Objections have been raised," Hollingshead explained, "against resort to barter, particularly for large transactions on the ground that it may interfere with the normal trade relations between the distributors and manufacturers, and consumers."

It was the depression rather than the government's example, however, that Hollingshead believed revived person-to-person swapping. To his knowledge the practcie has not reappeared in the larger trade channels.

Here, however, are some recent

FORMER CHIEF OF POLICE AT WINK IS SLAIN IN BATTLE

LATER POSITIVELY IDENTIFIED AS ROBBER LOUISIANA BANK

HENDERSON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—R. E. (Bob) Williams, once chief of police at Wink, Texas, was killed in a running gun fight with peace officers yesterday as a fugitive bank robber. A Louisiana woman who came to view his body here, identified him positively as one of three men who robbed the Pelican State Bank at Pelican, La., Monday, escaping with $2,600.

Ranger Thad Carver and Deputy Sheriffs Homer Gray and Edwin Holt halted Williams and another man driving in a truck on the highway near London in Rusk county. The officers said Williams leaped from the truck with a pistol in his hand and was killed in the ensuing fight. His companion was captured and held as a suspect in the robbery.

Later in the day, Sheriff Williams of Mansfield, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gillespie of Pelican came to Henderson to see the body of the slain peace officer. Mrs. Gillespie, who was in the bank when it was robbed, identified the former police chief as one of the three robbers.

Brig. Gen. Jacob Wolters, commander in the East Texas military district, appointed a board of inquiry to investigate the case. Rangers said Williams' wife had been living in a tent camp near London and they had been on the lookout for him.

M'CARTHY-OUIMET FAVORITES TODAY IN AMATEUR PLAY

NEW YORKER AND BOSTONIAN FAR AHEAD RIVALS AT HALF WAY MARK

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, Chicago, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., of New York, black haired son of a professional, and Francis Ouimet, of Boston, 38-year-old veteran of many a golfing war, assumed the roles of favorites today in the United States amateur championship by assuming overwhelming leads in the quarter-final matches.

At the 18th hole, or half way stage of the all day battle among the "last eight," McCarthy furnished the biggest sensation by shooting Beverly's layout in 71, even par, to gain a lead of 7 up on Fay Coleman of Los Angeles, last title hope of the far west.

Ouimet, not so spectacular but equally as steady, shook off his 21-year-old rival, diminutive Paul Jackson, of Kansas City, and led by six up. The veteran Bostonian, in one of his greatest comeback bids, negotiated the round in 74 and lost only one hole.

The other two matches were both closely fought and the tide turned in each on the inward nine holes.

Lester Bolstad of St. Paul, former public links champion, after being two down to Billy Howell of Richmond at the turn, took advantage of the young Virginian's wildness and was 2 up himself at the end of the round. Howell's 44 on the last nine, his worst golf of the tournament, was costly as Bolstad found his 80 for the round good enough to secure a lead.

Chicago's district champion, Jack Westland, overhauled his big rival Arthur (Ducky) Yates, of Rochester, N. Y., and was 1 up after 18 holes of ding dong golf.

Yates led by a hole at the turn, but lost it for the second time, at the home hole, after pulling all square at the 17th. Westland's 77 and his rival's 79 for the round represented erratic play.

Lester Bolstad was taken ill suddenly at lunch time with indigestion. A physician was called to treat him at the club house and, the start of his second round with Billy Howell was postponed a half hour. They were to have led the field again, but the Ouimet-Jackson match was first off.

Bolstad and Howell both showed signs of the tournament strain in the morning round. Howell, who has lost eight pounds since the championship began and nearly 20 pounds this summer, spent most of the lunch hour reclining on a couch. He readily consented to delaying the start of the second round.

Black Phantom of Other Days Died Colorado Prison

CANON CITY, Colo., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Old-timers today backed-tracked into the west of forty years ago to recall the exploits and crimes of "The Black Phantom," who, clad in sombre garb and riding a jet black horse, roamed Colorado and Wyoming for several years.

The body of the Phantom, otherwise Allen Hence Downen, 80, Colorado's oldest prisoner, was lowered into a grave at the state penitentiary here yesterday. Downen died Tuesday. He had served thirty-three years under a life sentence for murder.

Colorado officers said he was the mysterious horseman who once ruled the highways leading into Denver and Wyoming pioneers recalled the black phantom rider who disappeared shortly before Downen's conviction.

He was almost invisible at night as he rode the ranges, stealing cattle and robbing travelers.

China-Mexico

American ambasador also was requested to exercise his good offices. However, neither the federal government of Mexico nor the governors of the Mexican states have been able to arrest the development of anti-Chinese activities.

"Negotiations having thus been frustrated by the unruliness of the anti-Chinese elements, arrangements were made with the United States government to permit Chinese residents of Mexico to reside temporarily in the United States in the event of the necessary evacuation of Mexico.

"The Chinese government has exercised much restraint over the situation and hopes a satisfactory settlem t may yet result."

Consul Optimistic

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Chinese consul at Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, informed Chinese Minister Sain Young here by telephone last night that he was optimistic in regard to a settlement of the question of guarantees for Chinese nationals in Sonora.

Young also received a report from Cananea, Sonora, saying Chinese there had been ordered to leave by tomorrow, and other reports indicated that the expulsion of Chinese from Sonora and Sinaloa was continuing.

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 3.—(AP)—C. K. Wong, Chinese vice consul at Nogales, Sonora, expressed fear today for the lives and property of Chinese in isolated sections under deportation proceedings designed to clear the Mexican state of members of the race by Saturday.

Wong said he had received reports of the seizure of property of Chinese at Imuris, Pacoachi and Cananea and that all orientals had been forced off their farms at interior points.

The world, he asserted, "would be suprrised to learn the true story of the Chinese expulsion from Sonora and Sinaloa," but he refused to amplify his statement.

Mexican officials said they had received no word of federal intervention, as reported by the Chinese minister at Mexico City.

Passes have been obtained, Wong said, for approximately 800 of his countrymen to leave Mexico by way of border points. Sixty additional Chinese residents of Sonora left yesterday for San Francisco and Hongkong. A special train was sent south for others.

State Department May Be Able Assist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The state department advised the Chinese legation today that if it should submit the details of the Chinese-Mexican expulsion controversy the American government might be able to employ its good offices in seeking a solution.

Legation officials discussed with the state department the Mexican move to expel Chinese from Mexico. Department officials said, however, the question of mediation or arbitration was not involved. The course which would be pursued under international law if the facts warranted would be the employment of good offices.

The labor department already has granted permission for groups of Chinese leaving Mexico under the expulsion order to cross American territory.

Department officials withheld further comment but it was indicated that one of the complications that made the problem more difficult was the fact that the action was described as having been taken by individual Mexican states and not by the federal government of that country.

That government was described as entirely friendly to the Chinese. The American government in the employment of its good offices could deal only with the federal government.

Sterling Names Trio Additional Texas Rangers

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Appointment of three Rangers was announced today by Adjutant General W. W. Sterling.

They were: R. E. McWilliams of Ballinger; H. L. Johnson of Lubbock and L. V. Hightower of Liberty.

McWilliams is a former president of the Texas Sheriffs' Association and also was president of the West Texas Sheriffs' Association. He will be attached to the Headquarters company at Austin.

Johnson formerly was sheriff of Lubbock county and will be stationed at Del Rio.

Hightower was sheriff of Liberty county and will be assigned to the Fort Worth company.

Arizona Jails Full Of Fleeing Chinese

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Orientals flocking into the United States as a result of anti-Chinese legislation recently passed in the state of Sonora, Mexico, taxed the capacity of Pima and Cochise county jails.

Immigration authorities here advised border points to hold all illegal entrants because there are no accommodations in the Pima county jail for additional federal prisoners. This forced the transfer of all city and county prisoners at Bisbee to the Lowell, Ariz., jail, while Cochise county prisoners from Douglas had to be removed to Tombstone to make room in the new Bisbee jail for the Chinese.

With the arrest by border patrolmen of eight more celestials in te vicinity of Naco, Ariz., the number held in Bisbee has reached 42 and 10 others are confined in Douglas.

Chancellor Bruening have begun to discuss the vital political questions which divide their countries.

"The same is true of the meetings which have been held between the ministers of Germany and Britain, and of Germany and Italy, such informal meetings continue the most effective method of approaching and discussing these political problems, and until they are thus approached in such a spirit, any thorough economic rehabilitation of central Europe is almost impossible.

"It was very evident in each of the countries I visited that the spirit and policy of the president's moratorium was highly appreciated and was proving helpful in many directions."

Federal Deficit

ations since the world war period. The increase was due largely to relief, highway construction projects, including a vastly expanded public buildings program.

Nearly Billion Added

The deficit of $903,000,000 for the fiscal year ending July 1 was added to the national debt largely through long term bond issues it was the first time the treasury had such a deficit in the past decade. The $396,000,000 deficit in the new fiscal year, like the former, was attrbuted to a sharp decline in revenues, due to the falling off of income tax, customs and other receipts, and increased outlays for various government building, relief and other projects.

The statement of the treasury yesterday showed the farm board expended $62,525,743 in July and August compared to $15,994,940 in the same period last year. The postal deficit, which probably will exceed more than $100,000,000 this year, had reached $20,000,000 since July 1.

Income tax collections during the two months amounted to $45,579,466, a decline of $9,000,000, but customs duties totaled $72,719,738 an increase of $14,000,000 ovev last year.

HUGE BOND ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The $800,000,000 bond issue announced last Monday by Secretary Mellon has been over-subscribed but the books will be kept open the remainder of the week to permit participation in the securities by the entire country.

The announcement from the office of Secretary Mellon did not say how much the issue was oversubscribed but it was explained it was being kept open so that mail subscriptions from the Pacific coast could be received.

Officials expected that while the over-subscribtion would be large it would not be as large as that for the June issue of bonds which was over-subscribed eight times with a total of $6,400,000,000.

The recent criticism voiced by some members of congress and financiers that the treasury should not have issued bonds but should have continued to use short term securities at a lesser rate of interet was not answered but it was pointed out that in recent months the treasury has been carrying on short term financing and borrowing about $50,000,000 a week to meet its running expenses thorugh issuance of terasury bills.

the commission in plenary session.

The co-ordnating committee of the commission in formulating its recommendations admitted that no single remedy to erstore prosperity could be advanced and that the psychological depression was the greatest hazard to be hurtled.

Certain major guiding principles can be laid down, their report said, "and the first of these is that the psychological factor dominates the economic crisis affecting most nations today, and it is for the politicians above all to influence men's minds by spreading throughout the world a general feeling of confidence.

"It would seem to be necessary to discard every pre-conceived opinion, to be guided by experience and to seek remedies wherever there seems to be a chance of finding them."

Three Men and Women Take Big Sum From Victim

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Police today were looking for three men and a "stuttering" woman, whom Harry Keller, 51, a Dallas man, reported forced him to go out on a lonely road with them last night where they robbed him of $808 in cash and a watch.

He had eight $100 bills hidden in a secret pocket in the back of the neck of his vest, which his abductors found when they forced him to strip most of his clothes in their search for money.

"When we got about eight miles out on some road two of the men pulled me out of the car, made me take off my clothes and took my money," Keller said.

County Estimate

food for home consumption than since the early days when it was customary to raise everything at home and fill the old cellar with canned fruits and vegetables. All this is to the interest of the farmer as it will enable him to live at home at much less expense than usual. There will be no heavy feed bills to pay, no large grocery bills and what money the farmer has can be used to pay outstanding obligations and buy other necessities.

Information from reliable sources indicates that approximately 750,000 cans of produce, fruits, meats and other supplies have been put up in Navarro county this year. One firm in Corsicana had sold 375,000 cans several days ago and was then unloading 75,000 more, a full car load. Five car loads of cans, 75,000 to the car had been sold. Other firms in Corsicana have sold large numbers of cans as have merchants in Dawson, Richland, Blooming Grove, Frost, Kerens and other towns in the county. This does not take into consideration the large number of glass jars that are used from year to year. Dried fruits and vegetables are not included in this estimate.

Fall Gardens.

Fall gardens are now being planted and continued preparations are being made to "live at home." With the supply already on hand and reasonably good weather for fall gardens the farmers in the county will have plenty to eat this winter and well into spring when the next food crops will be grown.

Even in the face of extremely low prices farmers are in a position to "stage a comeback" and will be the first to recover from the period of depression.

examples of individual exchange without benefit of coin:

Barboursville, W. Va.: Farm produce became acceptable to the Morris Harvey college, on Aug. 21, as tuition for the coming school year, officials explaining that prospective students had plenty of crops but little money—and the school dining room must have edible supplies.

The International Harvester company was recently reported accepting wheat (at the rate of 75 cents per bushel) in payment for farm implements in Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Kansas.

At Indianapolis newspapers announced admission-by-wheat would be in vogue at the state fair on farmers' day, so that producers might exchange a bushel for entrance, another bushel for permission to drive a car into the grounds.

Dr. Manny was informed recently that several rural doctors in the middlewest have advertised their shingles to the effect:

"Treatment in exchange for poultry and eggs."

"This is one of those things that happen when prices go down, affecting the farmer first," Manny added. "After the Civil war, it is said, taxes were received in amounts of wheat in some cases; but we seem to be hearing of barter in more widespread areas now.

"This would seem natural because, despite our effort to get farmers to 'live at home,' they have now more specialized farms than they had in reconstruction days, and there are more things they must obtain by exchange."

Youth Transferred Jack County Jail

AMARILLO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Joe Taylor, alias Indian Joe, was turned over to Jacksboro authorities today for prosecution on robbery charges.

The Wichita Falls youth was acquitted here recently on charges of aiding Colquitt Davis and D. I. Davis in the robbery of two Amarillo stores.

He first proved he was a minor and had the case transferred to a county court. Then he established an alibi to show he was in Wichita Falls at the time the robberies occurred.

Wichita, Kas., authorities have asked that Taylor be turned over to them for prosecution in connection with the shooting affray in which D. I. Davis was fatally wounded.

PUMPING BARGE CONSTRUCTED AT ARCADY FARM TO BE USED IRRIGATE FARM NEAR KERENS

There was no reasonable objection in the mind of F. N. Drane to a pumping barge doubling as a comfortable houseboat when not put to practical use, so when Mr. Drane began the construction of a pumping plant to be used in irrigating certain sections of the Drane-Gibson plantation near Kerens, he enlarged his plans and secured rather surprising results—a combination craft with a gross weight of some 19,000 pounds that is the envy of his friends and brought a wistful look to many a sportsman's eye.

This unique craft was started on its career Tuesday morning when it slid down temporary skids on the banks of an old creek channel about 13 miles south of Kerens, and took to the water for the first time. The barre was completed last week, and transported on a special trailer behind a large truck from Arcady farm to the point where it took to the water. From now on it will operate under its own power.

Idea Developed

What promised at the beginning to be a mere pumping barge developed into a combination utilitarian and pleasure craft as the idea developed in the planner-builder's brain and as each new idea advanced and took definite form leaving a place for other additions.

Mr. Drane first conceived of a sturdy craft with a heavy cypress bottom to be used in utilizing the waters of the old channel of a creek near the confluence of Richland and Chambers creeks as they passed through the Drane-Gibson plantation some 13 miles south of Kerens. The old channel has been dammed up, making a lake some four or five miles long and with sufficient water to irrigate about 100 acres.

Work was started on the craft more than a year ago, but then efforts were stopped until a few months ago. Since that time it has moved steadily to completion until it now stands a craft capable of pumping some million and a half gallons of water in 24 hours, supplying its own motive and pumping power, and with a speed of some four or five miles per hour; and at the same time a complete houseboat with almost every comfort of home.

The craft is about 10 feet wide, 22 feet long, and an over-all height of about 12 feet, and fully loaded has a draft of about 18 inches with its 19,000 pounds of weight. The bottom is made of cypress, well oaked and pitched, while the remainder of the structure is pine.

Well Equipped Houseboat

It has the appearance primarily of a well equipped houseboat, and little evidence of its utilitarian purposes are visible. Its cabin is gleaming white, all the doors and windows are screened, and the cabin roof is surrounded with a sturdy railing and gives a promenade effect.

On entering the bow of the cabin, on the right is located a shower bath, while on the left is a lavatory, with a built in first aid cabinet filled with emergency needs. These are to be found in a tiny alcove effect. Then the main cabin comes into view with its Ford motor and centrifugal pump gleaming, along side the pumping well, and the black pipe of the distribution passing up through the cabin roof.

Modern Conveniences

In the right hand corner as one enters the cabin is found the galley with countless aluminum pots and pans in their respective places. In the left hand corner is a marble topped table and a gasoline stove. Under the floor, invisible inside the hull, are tanks to hold 100 gallons of gasoline, a similar quantity of drinking water, and tanks that will supply water for other purposes on board the boat. The lavatory and shower bath are equipped with hot and cold water, and the cabin is electrically lighted.

The walls of the cabin are lined with built-in cabinets and cupboards, each with its separate lock, for the clothing and personal effect of the owners. One side of the cabin is reserved for members of the Drane family while the other is for the use of Guy M. Gibson and has family. From the ceiling of the cabin are hung four folding iron beds, up out of the way in the day time and locked to prevent molesters from damaging them, but easily accessible at night. Several of the wall cabinets are inlaid with long mirrors.

The cabin roof is reached by a small ladder on the stern end, and affords a delightful place for rest late in the evening or early morning, as well as an observation platform for the distributor of the water. Even the guard rails are made to be useful as they are close at one end, with a cap connection on the other so that the long sections of pipe can be used as containers for fishing poles.

The barge is equipped with a strong winch and cable which may be used for puling the boat over levees or other obstructions. Adequate protection is carried against fire with four extinguishers, two firebuckets, and a garden hose on the interior of the cabin. A strong searchlight is mounted on the top rail of the bow.

Adjustable Suction Well

Because of the uneven character of the bed of the old channel and obstructions in the bed of the former stream, the boat is equipped with adjustable suction well that will enable the pump to maintain a steady stream of water on the nearby fields at all times, and at the same time will enable the operators of the craft to remove the protrusion from the bottom of the boat while moving about and the pump is not in use.

The channel of the stream, according to Mr. Drane, is walled in by high levees, but the outlet on top of the barge will enable the easy distribution of water to the fields on either side. On the drill crops, drainage ditches will be constructed at regular intervals to care for the flow of water, while cross-systems will care for the distribution in the row crops.

Three Forward Speeds

Equipped with a regular automobile transmission, the boat has three forward speeds and one reverse. The pump and power plant are so arranged that they may be operated together or as single units.

The builder asserted that when the undertaking was started it was thought that it would require only three or four weeks to complete it, but as the ideas and plans were enlarged until about three or four months were required for the completed product.

While it is essentially a pumping barge, Mr. Drane declared that it was also supposed to take the role of a pleasure craft. He intimated that it would be possible for the craft to be taken to the Trinity and then on down to the Gulf of Mexico along the mea..dering course of that historic stream, and also indicated that such a trip was not entirely foreign to his plans.

Declaring that nothing was ever thrown away on his farm, Mr. Drane said that many of the finishing touches to the boat were added to utilize articles that had been discarded about the place, as well as to add to the comfort and convenience of the barge.

Built at Farm

The craft was built at Arcady farm, and when completed, mounted on an eight-wheeled wagon and with a truck for power moved overland to the Drane-Gibson farm below Kerens, the trip requiring two days. A number of small bridges had to be cribbed to withstand the heavy load before the caravan could pass over them.

The boat was built under the supervision of Mr. Drane personally, with Joe Brown as the principal carpenter, and J. S. Roth in charge of installing the pump and power plant, wiring and other features of the boat.

PROFIT FROM HENS SHOWN BY EMHOUSE FARMER INCREASES

T. O. Bennett, Emhouse farmer who made a considerable profit during July on a flock of poultry, practically doubled his profits during August, according to figures compiled by Calvin Pigg, Navarro county agent. In July, his flock netted him $23.96 net profit while in August his net profit was $45.55.

"Feeding home grown rations is the secret of Mr. Bennett's success," Mr. Pigg stated.

Following are figures of the production:

Egg production, August, 4,403; July, 4,058. Receipts for eggs. August, $62.91; July, $43.41. Expenses, (feeds and disenfectants) August, $17.36; July, $19.45.

Average eggs per hen, 19.2 for the month of August as compared with 17.1 during July.

The average cost per dozen to produce the eggs in August was 4.7 cents per dozen, while in July the cost was 5.7 cents.

Several hens from the flock were culled and during August the average number of hens was 229, while in July the average was 236.

Following are the preparations of feed used by Mr. Bennett:

Laying Mash—20 pounds yellow corn meal; 20 pounds bran, 20 pounds of gray wheat shorts, 20 pounds of bone and meat scraps, 50 per cent protein, 20 pounds of ground oats, two pounds finely ground oyster shell, five pounds alfalfa leaf meal, and one-half pound of salt.

The grain and scratch preparations—400 pounds of wheat, 400 pounds of yellow corn chops and 200 pounds of threshed maize.

Views of Corsicana-Built Pumping Barge To Be Used in Irrigating Navarro County Farm

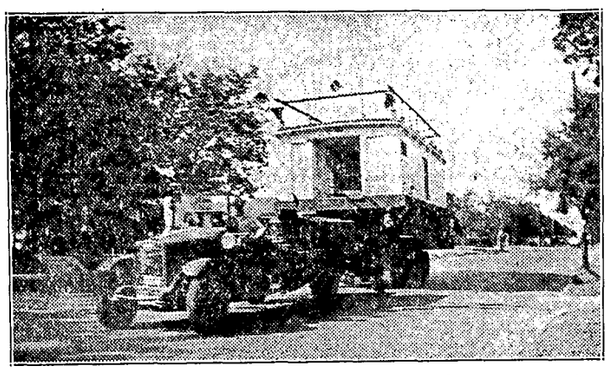

Several views of the pumping barge built under the supervision of F. N. Drane for use on the Drane-Gibson farm below Kerens, showing the huge structure in the "shipyard" at Arcady farm, and also mounted on its special carriage en route to the old creek b d where it will be used for irrigating purposes.

The upper left photograph shows the top of the barge with the big outlet pipe in the right foreground. The side guardrails, one of them showing in the picture, are to be used for carrying fishing poles. The firebuckets and the searchlight on the bow are also visible.

In the upper right picture is a photograph taken as the boat was being prepared for its special carriage, showing the stern end and side view, and also the sturdy cypress bottom of the barge. The ladder leading to the cabin roof if also visible.

The center left is a bow view of the barge, with the power plant visible through the opened door. The heavy timbers used in blocking the boat up gives an idea of the weight of the craft.

In the center right is a close-up of the inside finishing details of the barge which will also serve as a houseboat for the Drane and Gibson families, with the lavatory in the foreground, the paneled windows, while to the extreme left may be seen the mirrored door of the first aid cabinet slightly ajar.

In the lower left picture is the big barge as it moved slowly down West Second avenue last Frida.. morning en route to its new home a few miles south of Kerens, showing the heavy structure used in transporting the barge from its "dry dock" for its maiden voyage. J. S. Roth, in charge of the moving, is seen standing on the side of the truck.

The lower right is another view of the unique structure as it moved down Second avenue Friday morning, stopping all traffic as the general public stopped, stared, and wondered about the craft and its destination, little dreaming that it was a prosaic pumping barge.

PROBE OF MAJOR OIL COMPANIES' RECORDS IS MADE

AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A sumultaneous investigation of the records in the offices of major oil companies in Texas is being made by the attorney general's department, James V. Allred, attorney general, said today in explaining the absence of 14 of his assistants from Austin.

The assistants sought inuformation concerning alleged violations of the anti-trust laws by oil companies, Allred said.

Attorney General Allred stated further efforts also were being made to gain access to the books and records of the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. He said access to the books previously had been denied his department.

The Humble Oil & Refining Company, with headquarters at Houston, is one of the chief subsidiaries of the Standard of New Jersey.

The two companies that refused to permit inspection of their records did so on the contention they were not doing business in Texas and were not subject to state supervision, according to H. D. Bishop, assistant attorney general, had sought to inspect the records of the companies.

The exodus of the assistant attorneys general was made Sunday night and they started work on the books of the various companies at 9 a. m. Monday, Allred said.

The assistants have been instructed to make photostatic copies of the records and several of the copies arrived in Austin today for scrutiny of the attorney general.

Allred said he was surprised at the action of the two foreign corporations and that it was a matter of record that the Standard of New York owned most of the stock of the Magnolia and the Standard of New Jersey a controlling interest in the Humble Oil & Refining Company.

All Texas companies willingly complied with the request for inspection of their books, Allred said.

Allred said his assistants had been directed to investigate closely the contracts of the oil companies with operators of filling stations not owned by the companies. The contracts prevent the filling station operator from selling products of other companies and require that they charge prices set by the oil company with whom they have contracted, he said.

Allred said 90 per cent of the filling stations in Texas were operated under these "100 per cent" contracts.

The attorney general was instructed by the first special session of the legislature to conduct an investigation into alleged violations of the anti-trust laws by oil companies. The legislature made a special appropriation of $30,000 for the inquiry.

Several secret courts of inquiry have been held in various parts of the state in the investigation of the allegations and Allred said others would be held within the near future.

EIGHT GOVERNORS APPROVE FEDERAL UNEMPLOYMENT AID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The administration's plan for unemployment relief received approval from eight state governors as the national organization selected leaders in American industry to mobilize resources in local communities to meet the situation this coming winter.

Commendations of the plan, being carried out by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, were received at the White House late yesterday from five governors, while three previously had signified their hearty approval.

The chief executives endorsing the plan were Cross of Connecticut, Brucker of Michigan, Emmerson of Illinois, Parnell of Arkansas, Conley of West Virginia, Rolf of California, Winant of New Hampshire and Gardiner of Maine. They expressed confidence the states and cities could care for the local situations and pledged their co-operation.

Gifford announced yesterday that Owen D. Young of New York had consented to head a committee composed of well known citizens to aid in finding enough resources to meet the emergency.

The same kind of men are being sought to make up committees which will be charged with administering the relief funds and devising means of distributing and increasing employment.

Meanwhile, President Hoover was studying the nation's fiscal outlook with a view to continuing federal construction said to be furnishing employment for 380,000 men.

Young's job will be to stimulate interest in local fund raising campaigns that are conducted during the period from October 19 to November 25. The national relief organization is attempting to have all relief drives conducted at that time.

Before that period, however, it is planned to seek contributions from wealthy citizens and big corporations in order to give the campaign a good start.

While the primary purpose of the presidents' organization is to provide relief, it is continuing its activities toward preventing distress by increasing employment and keeping those who support families on salary rolls.

To this end, it is inaugurating a nation-wide radio campaign today to encourage young people to stay in school until employment conditions improve. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is to make the first of a series of speeches to urge youths to remain in school for their own good and thereby not compete for jobs with heads of families.

Wheat Acreage of Texas Is Cut Fourteen Pct.

AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—An indicated decrease of 14 per cent in the acreage of winter wheat in West Texas was reported in a statement issued by the United States department of agriculture bureau here today.

The acreage sown last fall was 3,843,000 acres, and a 14 per cent reduction would lower the acreage to 3,305,000 acres.

The report indicated a decrease of 12 per cent in winter wheat acreage throughout the United States, the smallest intended acreage reported since 1923.

A total of 42,422,000 acres was sown last fall. The 12 per cent decrease would make the total for this fall 37,344,000 acres.

This would be the smallest acreage since 1914, the report stated.

ENSIGN GARDNER TAKES CHARGE OF SALVATION ARMY

Ensign F. E. Gardner and family arrived in the city Tuesday to take command of the local post of the Salvation Army, succeeding Ensign Stevenson, who has given Corsicana splendid service in this capacity for the last two years.

Ensign Gardner has been connected with the Salvation Army in an official capacity for 12 years, having in that time labored in five different states, and in various branches of Salvation Army service, thus gaining experience which will enable him to understand, sympathize with and assist the different cases which come to his attention.

The ensign is intensely interested in children and young people and hopes to see steady growth of the character building branches of the local post, already organized.

While the ensign states that it is too early to outline a definite program for his work in Corsicana, he says that his chief aim will be to minister to the spiritual needs of all classes with whom he comes in contact, not forgetting that ministering to the physical needs is often a very important part of this work.

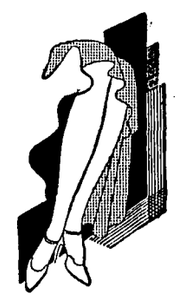

Ensign Gardner brings to Corsicana with him, a wife and four children, three of whom will attend the public school.

The members and friends of the Salvation Army will gather at the citadel tonight to welcome the ensign and his family to the local post, and there will be a very important public meeting Sunday night, which will be announced later.

CORSICANA, TEX., SEPT. 4, 1931

LAFAYETTE'S VISIT TO MT. VERNON.

Of all the military leaders under George Washington in the Revolution, it is possible that Lafayette won for himself the widest and most lasting popular esteem. Every American schoolboy has been taught the story of this ardent young Frenchman whose imagination was so fired by George Washington and America's struggle for liberty that he left wife, family and a proud position at the French court, to come here and place at Washington's disposal his military abilities, his unswerving loyalty and his very life. The friendship that grew up between these two exalted natures makes one of the fairest pages in American history, and the whole of America came to share Washington's personal affection for the brilliant and winning young man.

Six counties and thirty-six towns in the United States have been named after Lafayette, the Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, is at pains to inform us. And this takes no account of the streets, rivers, lakes and institutions in our country that render Lafayette this honor. Indeed he gained for himself a wider popularity in America than he won in his native France.

After the victory of Yorktown, in 1781, Lafayette returned to France, loaded with eulogies from Washington and from Congress. His reception in France was as warm as the farewell he received in America. The French king offered him the rank of a field marshal and other honors clustered thickly about him, but Lafayette had not put love of George Washington and America out of mind. After hastening to Madrid, in 1784, to reconcile a difference between that country and ours, he felt once more an eagerness to see his old military chief, and returned to this country.

No sooner had Lafayette landed than every American city of importance pressed him with official invitations and loaded him with every mark of respect. But his first errand was to see George Washington, and within eleven days after his landing he was at Mount Vernon in Washington's warm embrace. Arriving late in the summer of 1784, on August 17, he stayed there for approximately two weeks as Washington's guest.

What passed between the two men must be left to the imagination. A Washington diary for 1784 is missing, and no account of this meeting will Lafayette has been preserved. It was one of those moments of history destined never in any case to be disclosed to others. But what it meant to them is readily conjectured.

The two were united by ties of the strongest personal affection, bonded together by common experience in a great conflict for human advancement. They had fought shoulder to shoulder under fire, had endured and rejoiced together, had slept under the same cloak on the battlefield of Monmouth. Now they stood side by side again, able to look about on a victorious cause and a people enabled to grow and prosper under a new political freedom.

After visiting his old battlefields and receiving an impressive farewell from Congress, Lafayette sailed again to France. But after his return he continued as ever to labor for America's interest and welfare, and on a visit to Prussia in 1785, he had the pleasure of listening to a eulogy of his beloved George Washington from the lips of Frederick the Great.

Lafayette's part in the French revolution is a matter of history, but one of its high lights is an act reflecting his undying love of Washington. The Bastille having fallen, Lafayette sent to Washington the key to the ancient prison. The identity of this relic may be questioned, but no visitor to Mount Vernon has failed to note it with interest.

In his later years Lafayette's heart again yearned toward America, and in 1824, at the age of 67, he paid his final visit. Everywhere his reception was a march of triumph, one of the remarkable events of its kind in the history of the world. Perhaps no man has ever received such gratitude and popular affection from another people. One of the last official acts was to lay the cornerstone of Bunker Hill Monumentfl But to Lafayette the impotrant errand of his coming was a visit to Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon.

Cannon saluted him on his arrival there, but he wished no one to witness his emotion on first entering the vault. What he thought as he knelt there is another of the secrets of the dead, but he came from the tomb with his face covered with tears. Ten years later, aged 77, he joined his old chief in the endless union of death.

JUST FOLKS

THE WHIPPOORWILL

For two long hours I hear your shrill,
Loud, constant calling "Whip-poorwill,"
And wonder, curious evening bird,
By what strange impulse you are stirred
That when the pale moon floods the sky,
You startle humans with your cry.

I canot quite make out the call.
Is it from fear the moon may fall
Upon you as it floats above?
Is it a cry to those you love
Lured by the silver beams to stray
In other groves of trees to play?

What is your secret pain of thrill,
Gray bird, self-named the "Whip-poorwill"
Is it from duty or delight
You voice that constant call at night?
And are you in that manner queer,
Serving some useful purpose here?

Strange bird! The wisest man in vain
Attempts your mystery to explain.
We know not why your life was planned,
Your call we cannot understand
And God must smile to see us still Confounded by a Whippoorwill.

EXPERIENCED DRIVERS CAUSE MOST ACCIDENTS.

According to Edward J. O'Meara, Highway Commissioner of Wisconsin, the rate of increase of automobile accidents is greater among experienced drivers than among those of two or less years driving experience.

This does not mean that we should not attempt to make sure new drivers are competent before licensing them to operate cars, but it does indicate that carelessness is the principal cause of the mounting toll of automobile deaths and injuries. The so-called "good" drivers are those who do the excessive speeding on stretches of narrow, twisting road, who pass on corners, weave in and out of traffic, and do the rest of the things that result in crashes.

Rigid enforcement of driving codes alone cannot overcome this because the patrolman is limited to the very small piece of road on which he can be at any given time. A sense of responsibility, of duty, must in some way be instilled in those who use the highways, to materially improve the accident record.

General safety education in schools is now producing tangible results in the form of fewer deaths to children of school age — and the knowledge implanted in malleable minds now, will be retained by the adult. Education, vividly and unremittingly pursued, is the greatest factor in fighting the accident menace.

Woman's Work Is Never Done

OPPORTUNITY FOR GENIUS.

There is fame and fortune awaiting the clever genius who first devises a system of handwriting that is easy and speedy to write and can not possibly be misread. It would fulfill a need long felt in every branch of commerce and industry.

While the typewriter has banished illegibility from business communications and most business records, handwriting has not been entirely dispensed with, much to the regret of the efficiency expert and all whose duty it is to read accurately the penmanship of others.

Merchants and their bookkeepers constantly complain of the difficulty of deciphering the scribbling on the sales sheets of their sales people upon which they must depend in keeping their inventories and accounts up to date. In industry the records of shipping clerks, inspectors, timekeepers and foremen are usually little short of illegible.

Public school courses probably place too little stress on penmanship, but a good penman cannot keep pace with the high speed methods of modern enterprise and keep his writing easily legible at the same time. The fault is not so much the human element but the alphabet.

Obviously, the solution lies in the invention of a brand - new alphabet by which even careless and hurried persons can learn to write fast and unmistakable records.

THE THRILL SEEKERS.

Some recent airplane accidents indicate that youth's desire for thrills was a contributing cause. Young "joy-riders" in the early days of the automobile had the same feeling about a new machine. "Stepping on the gas," chasing cows and chickens, spreading panic among buggy riders, "burning up the road," provide excitement. Traveling smoothly at a sedate pace lacked the essential kick. The throbbing machine was an invitation to try it out. Smash-ups were inevitable, and it was a blessing that the fast cars of today and the slow roads of that period were not contemporaneous.

The tyro of the air experiences the same reaction. His first airplane ride is devoid of breath-taking thrills and he is disappointed. The trip is without bumps or slides or loop-the-loops; riding in a taxi is more uneven. But for the dial in front of the pilot there would be nothing to indicate that the craft is beating through the air at a tremendous speed. So the passenger calls for stunts.

Perhaps the Guggenheim foundation had these air enthusiasts—their number is legion—in mind when it offered a prize for a "fool-proof" airplane. Four-wheel brakes and good roads save the necks of many "young fools" at the wheels of motor cars. It is more difficult when they take to the air.

GETTING NEW BUSINESS.

The following editorial which appeared in a recent issue of a Colorado Springs, Colo., paper applies to Corsicana, Texas, as well as it does to the well known summer resort:

"Progressive business firms are finding that the necessity for constant alertness and a canstant enlargement of their circle of customers is steadily increasing. Firms that are content to satisfy only those customers who have patronized them for years cannot compete successfully with firms that are constantly on the lookout for new business.

"Modern advertising keeps everyone acquainted with market deviations, with the result that the public is rapidly overcoming old buying habits. There was a time when the housewife restricted her patronage to one or two stores, paying the prices asked at those stores without question and accepting substitutes if the things she asked for were not in stock.

"Today the advertising pages, not the beaten bath, are her guide when she goes out to make her purchases.

"Men and women are not disposed these days to disregard bargains, and accordingly they do their buying wherever they believe they can obtain the most for their money. Economy and satisfaction sway them more than loyalty to a firm, and the merchants who have discovered this are the ones who are making progress."

PRICES OF OIL PRODUCTS.

Recent U. S. department of labor statistics on the prices of gasoline and petroleum products are called to our attention. In the quantities of gas, lubricating oil, etc., it buys, the public's dollar of 1926 has become $3.25. The prices are more than three times lower than they were five years ago. The decline of the wholesale prices of petroleum products has been from two to three times as much as the decline of the wholesale prices of foods, shoes, clothing and building materials.

What ought the public to think about it?

There are confusing phases. Instead of less crude oil in sight, there seems much more than even the optimists not long ago dreamed of. In fields where a 2000-barrel well was not long since considered good, wells are being brought in which start at 20,000 and 30,000 barrels a day. One must say that on the face the prices ought to be lower than five years ago.

But more than three times lower is another matter. Some gasolines have been from two to three times under the prices charged on the same dates for the lowest gasoline offered across the border in Canada. Everyone sees a situation in which legitimate doubts arise whether all of it is gasoline or not. Possible injuries to motors are a factor.

Through co-operative restraints of oil production and a clearing up as to the true nature and qualities of some bootleg gasolines, should bring about a better situation.

MAYBE WE WON'T BUILT IT.

Eventual construction of the proposed Nicaraguan canal may depend upon the outcome of a supplementary survey to determine whether the lakes that would form part of the waterway are in danger of being drained by earthquakes. Government surveyors say not; geologists say yes; navy surveyors will convince themselves.

Below the surface of the oceans there lies more land by far than is comprised in the area of all the continents. The Atlantic ocean lies above an immense plain surrounded by an incline that rises very slightly for some hundreds of miles to the continental shores and broken in a few places by lofty mountains forming islands above the surface and by extraordinary depressions, deeper by a mile or more than the general ocean floor.

It is one of these depressions, the Bartlett Deep, that occasions the uncertainty in Nicaragua. It lies between Cuba and Honduras, is a thousand miles long and 50 miles wide, and is two miles deeper than the ocean around it. Suspected of volcanic origin, seismic disturbances within its abysmal depths are expected.

This is a problem of importance, for any uneasy or unreliable fault in this location may make it inadvisable to pursue any further the project of a Nicaraguan Canal. The government cannot afford to spend $700,000,000 for something and then lose it down a crack in the earth.

LIMESTONE REFUSES PERMIT FALLS TAKE SCHOOL DISTRICT

MEXIA, Sept. 1.—(Spl.)— Falls county's efforts to annex 2200 acres of the present Ben Hur school district, which extends into Falls county, have been repulsed by the Limestone county schoel board, which met in Groesbeck Saturday.

When the county line district of Oklahoma merged last year with Ben Hur, the Limestone county school was extended into Falls county. A large school has been erected, and the Limestone board holds that the entire district is needed to support the school in taxation. Falls county would have put the area in the Otto district.

At a meeting of common school trustees of the 60 or more districts of the county Saturday afternoon in Groesbeck, J. J. Barfield, county superintendent, J. M. Patterson, chairman of the county board; Miss Georiga Hays, newly named county supervisor, and Representative J. T. Cox were speakers.

Mr. Patterson explained the county board would adopt a democratic policy of allowing consolidations where desired, but forcing none on the people. A number of school mergers are expected during the year.

FALL GARDENS ARE SUGGESTED AS WAY AID COTTON SLUMP

Fall gardens are being recommended to the farmers of Navarro county by County Agent Calvin Pigg to combat the low prices for cotton and generally subnormal financial conditions. The county agent asserts that a fall garden with a variety of vegetables and proper cultivation will go far toward supplying wholesome food for rural tables.

Where possible it is advised that the summer garden be continued for the fall plot if the moisture is adequate. The soil should be broken to a depth of four or five inches, and thoroughly disced and then harrowed to aid capillary action. If fertilizer is needed, well rotted manure or a quickly available fertilized is recommended. In planting, the use of a fourth more seed is recommended because of the slower germination at this season of the year.

Among the vegetables recommended with their planting dates:

September 1-15—Cabbage, radishes, cauliflower, carrots, bush beans, celery.

September 15-30—Radishes, beets, Swiss Chard.

October—Spinach, rutabaga, turnips, white radishes, kale, lettuce, mustard parsley and onions.

COMMISSION ORDERS BIDS FOR BUILDING RICHLAND TRESTLE

The Navarro county commissioners court Tuesday authorized the advertising for bids on the construction of a 561-foot trestle in Richland creek bottom on the Corsicana-Ward bridge lateral road. A. F. Mitchell, county engineer, estimated the cost of the proposed trestle at $16,000. The plans and specifications have been completed and it is expected that the trestle will be on creosoted piling and stringers with concrete floor, an exact duplicate of the approach to the Trinity river bridge on the Navarro side on highway 31 between Corsicana and Athens.

G. W. Orms, district Texas A. and M. college extension agent, accompanied by Miss Horton, district home demonstration agent, appeared before the commisioners relative to the recent order passed by the court discontinuing the demonstration agents in Navarro county, effective Oct. 1. Mr. Orms said that a contract existed with the county running until Dec. 1, and that there was no disposition on his department's part to abrogate the said contract and that the deparment would live up to its agreement with the county. The commissioners intimated they would not rescind their action.

Claims were allowed except as noted on the claim docket.

The pauper roll was cut from $207.50 per month to $115 and one was added to the list for $5 per month. A number of the amounts were slashed considerably and several were cut off.

It was stated that there were threatened injunctions relative to the proposed construction of a new two-way bridge spanning Richland creek at Ward bridge crossing from the funds of Consolidated road district No. 1. There is opposition in some quarters, it was stated, due to the fact that half of the bridge would be outside of the district, which goes to the middle of the creek bed.

OUTLOOK INDICATES WINTER TO BE HARD ON CHARITY RELIEF

SIXTY-SIX FAMILIES AIDED DURING AUGUST, A RECORD SUMMER NUMBER

The present outlook indicates the coming winter will be the hardest in many years from the standpoint of relief work by charitable organizations, according to Miss Augusta Helm, secretary of the United Charities here. Her August report indicated that 66 families, an "appalling number" for summer months, were given food, clothing, and hospitalization.

As a result of improper diets, according to Miss Helm, cases of pellagra are being reported every day, and the care of them promises to be a difficult task for the United Charities this winter. The secretary stated it is impossible for every one to have fresh meat, eggs, and milk, which to d to prevent the disease, but if the citizens of Corsicana will cooperate in providing canned tomatoes and yeast throughout the winter, the grave situation could be greatly alleviated.

Miss Helm pointed out that numerous cases of epilepsy, pellagra, and tuberculosis are prevalent here, and will present a difficult task to the charitable organization this winter. In addition to the large number of families given aid this summer, 17 children have been deserted by their parents, and have been placed by the United Charities.

Eighteen families during the month of August were provided groceries; 22 families given clothing; five families given medicine, and three wheel chairs were place... Miss Helm said among the requests refused by the charitable organization were requests for automobile tires, gasoline, and many other automobile accessories.

With the opening of school in the near future, many requests for scohol books are being received, and Miss Helm asked anyone in the city having old school books, especially dictionaries and music books, to give them to the United Charities.

The board will meet next Tuesday at 3 o'clock.

MEETING CALLED THOSE FAVORABLE TO COUNTY AGENTS

A meeting has been called for those interested in retaining the county demonstration agents to be held at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Both men and women from the city and county who are interested in retaining these agents are requested to attend. Plans will be presented for retaining the agents and a committee will probably be appointed to discuss the matter.

Those interested feel that now is the time demonstration agents are needed more than ever, as plans are being made for extensive canning and food preserving for future use and the farmers need assistance in preparing a scientific plan for diversification.

Dallas County Man Slain For Alleged Attack Upon Woman

DALLAS, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Vernon Tompkins, 24, former high school football player, was dead today and Gene Yelverton, 28, husband of the slain man's cousin, was charged with murder. Yelverton said he killed his kinsman because the latter made advances to Mrs. Yelverton while staying at her home to protect her during her husband's absence. Officers learned that Yelverton killed Tompkins with a shotgun borrowed from his father-in-law, Cubia Tompkins, an uncle of the slain youth.

Young Tompkins was killed yesterday on the farm of Charley Culbertson, by whom he was employed. Yelverton was employed on an adjoining farm. Culbertson witnessed the shooting. He and a neighbor brought Yelverton to Dallas, where the latter surrendered to officers.

TRYING TO LINK CHERRIS SLAYING IN DOUBLE MURDER

WELL KNOWN POLICE CHARACTER FOUND DEAD BRAZOS RIVER WEDNESDAY

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Links between the "blotting out" of John Cherris and the double slaying of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones were being sought in Houston today as police worked on the theory that Cherris was "taken for a ride" out of this city Saturday night, some 36 hours before Mr. and Mrs. Jones were murdered—and that the same gangsters were reponsible for all three deaths.

It became virtually certain today that the body of a man found folating in the Brazos river at East Columbia yesterday was that of Cherris, notorious police character, who was being sought for questioning in the Jones case at the time his body was found.

Tattoo marks on the right arm of the dead man tallied with those shown in police records.

A scar on the left cheek bone was a police means of identifying Cherris.

Bobby Ellis, Houston police fingerprint expert, who examined the body, said the slain man's prints check with police record prints of Cherris.

Ellis made a sworn statement to Justice G. C. Hardeman at Freeport in which he positively identified the "ride" victim as being Cherris.

It was learned that police have information that Cherris was seen in Houston Saturday with three men and that they believe Jones and his wife were murdered by the same group.

Cherris was killed by a bullet through his head. The shot was believed to have been fired somewhere on the lonely stretches between Houston and East Columbia and his body thrown over the bridge into the river. Blood spots found on the bridge were believed to have been made by a freshly made wound.

It was believed that members of the same gang then returned to Houston and consummated their mission by putting Mr. and Mrs. Jones "on the spot" in their fashionable apartment where their pajama-clad bodies were found Monday morning after 10 shots had been fired into both.

In Memory of Little James A. Fullerton

The song has ended, but the memory lingers on, so it is in the passing of "Our Little Boy," as we always called him. He loved his Sunday school songs, "Jesus Loves Me," being one of his favorites. His manly ways, friendly disposition, and cheery "hello" to his friends, endeared him to young and old alike, and his young life, taken in his innocence and purity will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him. The seven short years that God let us keep him has indeed enriched our lives. God gives, God takes away.

His brave mother and dad to whom his last precious words were, "I love you, daddy, and mother, too," have a hope beyond the grave, an asurance that "Our Little Boy" is safe in the ams of Jesus, whom he loved.

Our Little Boy, in the afterglow,
In the long, long years, we'll miss you so.
For loving you, when first we knew
That next to our heart your young life grew,
Loving you on into fair childhood
When you so little understood
Our Little Boy in the afterglow,
We are so glad we loved you so.

Our Little Boy in the afterglow,
Your dear, sweet voice we shall often hear
Words whose blissful cherished sound,
Shall echo to us the whole day round.
To us you shall always be young and fair,
With your bright eyes and golden brown hair,
We are so glad you loved us so.
One who loved him, his cousin,

MEETING HELD AT TEAGUE TUESDAY ON MARKETING COTTON

TEAGUE, Sept. 3.—(Spl.)—Business men, bankers, professional men and farmers attended the Texas Cotton co-operative association meeting at Teague in the city hall at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 1. There were nearly two hundred in the meeting.

C. E. Bowen, secretary of the Teague Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman and introduced the following speakers: Dr. J. Faye Moore, of Coolidge, who is one of the directors of the state organization of the Texas Cotton Co-operative association, and who gave in his talk a capitulation of the farm board and coooperative marketing; Mr. Coglin of Ellis county, who is in the field service of the Texas Cotton Co-operative association, who spoke on the present depression and some remedies for its elimination; and Homer D. Wade, of the Texas Co-operative association, who spoke upon the work of the association an dits relation to the farmer and of the present economical conditions.

Of the farmers present more than one-half are already shippers on the co-operative plan. When a vote to adopt the Long plan was taken 47 voted for it and 28 were opposed to it, many not voting. When a suggestion of 50 per cent reduction was made, 64 voted for it and 5 were against, many not voting.

It was voted almost unanimously adopting a resolution desiring Congress to leave the marketing plan as it is, until it can be further tested.

Much interest was manifested by the farmers and others relative to the need for improvement in the cotton situation.

Other preparations, we are informed, have been offered at times to those who ask for Bayer Aspirin; and even represented in some cases as being "the same as Bayer Aspirin."

Watch Out! Remember that years ago doctors warned the public against "headache remedies," some of which are heart depressants and unsafe for many people to take.

Then remember how Genuine Bayer Aspirin came. And was acclaimed the world over by leading men of science as SAFE relief for pain, and was prescribed without hesitation by eminent physicians. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to dose yourself with drugs of which you know nothing. Don't gamble—KNOW.

The genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets are made by a special process, under careful supervision of scientists, in the Bayer Laboratories, with over 25 years of highly specialized experience.

So when you want SAFE relief for pain, cold or headache, ask for BAYER ASPIRIN. You have a perfect right to ask for what you want. And an equal right to get what you ask for.

Assures Coroner Recent Funeral Was Premature

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—John M. Keenan had ham and eggs for breakfast this morning, after having convinced the coroner's office that a funeral held for him a fortnight ago, was somewhat premature.

The "funeral" was held because his old friend, Harry McGarry, manager of a cigar factory, happened to stroll through the county morgue two weeks ago. Suddenly he stopped short.

"Well," he said, "if it isn't my old friend, John. I haven't seen him in ten or eleven years."

So Harry cabled John's brother in Ireland, who wired back an order for a proper funeral to be paid for out of John's insurance. Harry gave the necessary orders to an undertaker and that was supposed to be the last of John until yesterday when he walked into Harry's factory, and explained that he had been "traveling around a bit."

A deputy coroner is trying to establish the identity of the man buried as John.

HOUSTON BUFFS WIN SECOND HALF WHEN SHIPPERS BEST STEERS

HOUSTON ENTRY IS DOUBLE FINALIST TEXAS LOOP RACE

INDIANS TAKE DOUBLE BILL FROM SPUDDERS TO LEAVE CELLAR

BY BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Manager Joe Schultz and his Houston pitching beauties such as Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, George Washington Payne, Tex Carleton, Pistol Pete Fowler and Elmer Hanson are champions of the 1931 Texas league. The Buffaloes won the second half championship last night by beating the Shreveport Sports 8 to 5, while the Dallas Steers lost to Beaumont, 7 to 3. Today, the Buffaloes have a thirteen and a half game lead over the second place Steers. Both clubs have only twelve games to play.

The Steers, up to last night, were the only ones with a mathematical chance to win the second half. The Buffaloes won the first half pennant by defeating Beaumont 3 out of 5 games in a play-off after both teams had finished in a tie. Dean with 26 victories, Charleton with 20, George Payne with 23, Hanson with 14 and Fowler with 12, carried the Buffaloes to the league pennant, and into the coming Dixie series with Birmingham the Southern Association champions.

The Buffaloes spotted Shreveport a 4 to 0 lead. It was not enough for the Sports. They weakened and the Buffaloes charged with a five run stampede in the eighth to finish in front. Fowler, Hanson and Payne pitched for Houston. Payne received credit for the game.

Adkins Hit Hard.

Grady Adkins got away to a bad start when Beaumont solved his pitching for four runs in the first inning to win from Dallas. Hollerson, elongated right hander, pitched commendable ball for Meaumont by holding Dallas to seven hits. Schuble's brilliant fielding at third featured the game. He came up twice with sensational catches of line drives.

The Wichita Falls Spudders dropped into the league cellar by losing a doubleheader to San Antonio. The Indians won the first 4 to 1 and the second 3 to 2. Roland Flinn pitched the Indians to victory in the first game, limiting the Spudders to five hits. He rescued Kowalik in the sixth inning of the second game, and his fine relief hurling saved the game.

The Galveston Buccaneers enjoyed a hitting spree against Fort Worth. The game terminated 11 to 9 in favor of Galveston after the Buccaneers had blasted Whitworth and Jinx Harris for 19 hits. Seydler pitched ten hit baseball for Galveston.

Bones Irwin Named Assistant Freshman Aggieland Mentor

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 3.—(Spl.)—Barlow (Bones) Irwin, former Texas Aggie all-Southwestern conference guard, has been named assistant freshman football coach for the Aggies this fall, Madison Bell, head of the department of physical education and head football coach, has announced.

"In securing Irwin," Coach Bell said, "we feel we will be reinforcing our knowledge in fundamentals in line play. Irwin will be able to send the varsity coaches men from the freshman squad better equipped for varsity competition."

Irwin played for the Aggies in 1923-24-25 and later coached at St. Mary's university in San Antonio for three years. He will have charge of the line on the freshman first or "A" squad this fall.

The Texas Aggie freshman football coaching staff this fall will include Head Freshman Coach Roswell Higginbotham, H. C. (Dutch) Dillingham, and Roscoe Van Zandt. All are former Texas Aggie players.

Mexia Black Cats and Odd Fellows Eleven Meet September 18th

One of the early season feature tilts among Class B teams in Central Texas will be staged Friday, Sept. 18, when the I. O. O. F. Home (Corsicana) defending champions of District 14-B, Interscholastic League, meet the Mexia Black Cats, conceded to be one of the strongest Class B teams in Texas last year. The arrangements for the game were completed this week.

Mexia was undefeated in the district competition last year, but were thrown out of the league running due to the innocent use of an ineligible player. The game will be the first game of the season for both aggregations and will be played on the Mexia municipal park. A large crowd is anticipated on this occasion.

Defying Champ of Champs

—By HARDIN BURNELY—

© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

FATHER TIME has never been stopped, some champions have stalled off his subtle attacks for years, a few have retired before his steady assault doomed them to defeat, but—in the long run—the Old Man with the Scythe scores a final K. O. against 'em all.

Benny Leonard, retired world's lightweight champion, is the latest to defy Daddy Time under the canny auspices of Jack Kearns, America's foremost master of the craft of boxing ballyhoo. Having thrust 30-year-old Mickey Walker, "an overstuffed middleweight," into the heavyweight title lists, the Ol' Doc who once piloted Jack Dempsey is hoping to land another championship with Leonard.

The newspapers generally are rather kind to Kearns but this time he's tackling something that is being severely criticized in most sport columns because the impression is strong that Leonard—at 35 and after seven years of restful retirement—is too old and too rusty to do anything now but spoil glowing memories of his glorious championship days. Rated as one of the greatest lightweights of all time, Leonard was beginning to take on weight even before he retired in 1924. He had won the title from Freddie Welsh in 1917 and had been boxing since 1912. When retiring, it was announced that Benny did so in deference to his mother's fears and wishes. She is still living.

According to Kearns and others, Leonard weighed about 170 when he started light secret training early this Summer. After twelve weeks, it was announced, he'd gotten down to 145. As Benny's bulk lessens, Kearns' ballyhoo grows despite rebuffs from the boxing boards of Illinois and New Jersey which block Leonard's efforts to stage comebacks in those States. They're readying Benny for another money shot for which the Ol' Doc's golden cymbals are echoing in many of the press and elsewhere.

Dreams of Leonard's $163,000 take from his second bout with Lew Tendler—that was more than Max Schmeling got for beating Bill Stribling recently! No wonder the cacaphonous Kearns is attempting the miracle of a real ring resurrection!!

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor

Beaumont lost the first half championship to the Houston Buffs and then Wednesday night the Exporters downed the Dallas Steers while Houston were winning over Shreveport, 8-5, to cinch the second half title. Houston will represent the Texas league in the Dixie Series, this year. Birmingham will represent the Southern Association. The Birmingham Barons cinched the Southern Association title Wednesday. This was an unusual occurrence when both teams cinched the championship on the same day.

Houston will be favored to win the Dixie Series and uphold the traditions and records of the Texas league in former years.

Following is the record of former Dixie Series:

| Year | Winner. | Loser |
|---|---|---|
| 1920— | Fort Worth..... | Little Rock |
| 1921— | Fort Worth..... | Memphis |
| 1922— | Mobile ..... | Fort Worth |
| 1923— | Fort Worth.... | New Orleans |
| 1924— | Fort Worth..... | Memphis |
| 1925— | Fort Worth ..... | Atlanta |
| 1926— | Dallas ..... | New Orleans |
| 1927— | Wichita Falls . | New Orleans |
| 1928— | Houston..... | Birmingham |
| 1929— | Birmingham ..... | Dallas |
| 1930— | Fort Worth ..... | Memphis |
| 1931— | ???? | |

It will be noted that in the past eleven years, the Texas leaguers have won nine of the Dixie series, Fort Worth losing to Mobile in 1922 and Dallas losing to Birmingham in 1929.

This will be the third time the Barons have been in the series and it will be Houston's second time. Houston downed Birmingham in 1928, and from all appearances, the Bisons of 1931 are stronger than the club of 1928.

Coaches Pierce, Hanna and Gardner are sending the Tigers through strenuous training. There are plenty of players out for the club and the coaches are not wasting any time in finding out whether the prospects are to be players. Blocking, punting, running singles, etc. were indulged in Wednesday afternoon. Linemen were especially instructed in play and the writer was agreeably surprised at the pace the Tigers are showing this early in the training season. Wednesday was the third afternoon but, they were snapping out of it like they had been working at least a couple of weeks.

Many Tigers of former years were looking the Bengals over, and a number who will report to college training camps within the near future were getting in shape including Ed Price, end, Texas University Jack McNutt, S. M. U.; Henry L. Graves, Texas A. and M. College; Max Lowery, Trinity University; Billy Stamps and J. W. Hornbeak, who enter Washington State University; Nelson Ross, and others.

The Tiger mentors and players mean business this year from all indications, and the Tigers will have to be reckoned with. Looks like those Junglebeasts mean to make a serious effort to keep the district 9 championship in Corsicana.

Home run hitters Wednesday included Ruth, New York Yankees; Goslin, St. Louis Browns; Manush, Washington; Bluege, Washington; McManus, Boston Red Sox; Brown, Fort Worth; Higgins, San Antonio.

The thud of the booted pigskin and the crack of bodies against bodies is heard at Municipal Park each afternoon as the Bengal mentors drive their charges in an effort to be in trim for the opening tilt with the Highland Park club at Dallas, Sept. 18.

One of the most interesting closs B titles of the season will be played in Mexia Sept. 18 when the I. O. O. F. Home of Corsicana opposes the Mexia Black Cats. Both are members of district 14-B Interscholastic league, but are in different divisions. The Odd Fellows won the district title last year while Mexia was undefeated in class B circles and came within a few points tying the state champion Tyler club. Mexia innocently used an ineligible man and was thrown out of the running by the district committee. Mexia grid ethusiasts are anticipating a large crowd for this opening tilt.

The Chisler Drops In On Bambino

By AL DEMAREE

John McGraw's favorite story was about a young outfielder who joined the Giants one day at the Polo Grounds late in the year.

"'Run out to left field, young fellow,' said McGraw 'and work out a little.'

"'Beg 'Pardon,' answered the bewildered rookie, 'but I was never in this ball park before. Where is left field'"

Babe Ruth tells one about a certain pest who was a great chisler. Walking into Ruth's room one night he helped himself to several cigars and poured himself a drink.

"'Sorry I can't stay with you,' said Babe, marveling at the fellow's cheek, 'but I'm on my way to the barber shop. Want a shave?'"

"'Well,'" answered the chisler, "I just had a shave this noon, but I guess I can stand another one."

Texas Aggie Warriors Prepare To Open Training September 10

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 3.—(Spl.)—Tom toms are beating in Teasx Aggie tepees over the state as Maroon and White gridiron warriors pack their belongings preparatory to the trek to College Station for the opening of football practice Sept. 10. Madison Bell and J. G. (Klepto) Holmes, head coach and line coach, respectively, fully prepared for the annual training session, are waiting as patiently as possible for the arrival of the 60 men invited to report.

From Cisco will come Carl Moulden, captain and tackle, who will lead the Aggie braves on a series of at least nine forays during the season's football war. Thirteen of the 60 warriors expected to report for duty Sept. 10 won the right during the 1930 campaign to wear the coveted Aggie "T" along with the rest of their war paint. Three of the 13 have attained this honor twice.

The Aggies will buckle down to work from the opening day, for Coaches Bell and Holmes have mapped out a training program that calls for two practice sessions and one "skull practice" period daily for the week or so before classroom work takes the warriors for the better part of each day. Sixteen days for practice are open to the Cadets, for their first game, a double header program with Southwestern University and John Tarleton Agicultural College as their opponents, isn't booked until Satuday, Sept. 26..

Poor Record.

Scalp gathering has been poor for the Aggies for the past few years, and the Maroon and White warriors will go on the warpath hungering for victories. In two years the Cadet braves have collected seven scalps in 18 attempts, only two of the trophies having been captured during the 1930 season.

When the Aggie braves hit the touchdown trail, they will do so with grim tradition pointing an accusing finger in their direction In the 17 years the Southwest Conference has been n existence, no senior class has graduated from the college without having seen a maroon and white championship 11 in action. But not since 1927, when Joel Hunt led the Aggies through an undefeated season, have the Cadets packed a Southwest conference football flag away with their moleskins at the end of a season. This year's incoming senior class did not matriculate until the fall of 1928.

Those who believe in the adage that "history repeats itself," will point out that the same condition existed in the fall of 1925 and that in that year the Aggie warriors on Thanksgiving Day spanked Texas University's team 28 to 0 to win the conference championship and end a season marred by but one defeat. However, since that year many Aggie traditions have been ditched, including the one concerning Cadets' invincibility when playing on historic Kyle Field.

Diffcult Schedule.

The Aggie tribe this year will face one of its hardest schedules in years. After preliminary skirmishes with Southwestern and John Tarleton Agricultural College in a double header program Sept. 26, the Cadets will take up their tomahawks in earnest, meeting Tulane, Iowa University, T. C. U., Baylor, Centenary, S. M. U., and Rice on successive Saturdays and winding up the season with annual classic battle with the Texas University Longhorns. It is possible also that the Aggies will not leave the warpath until after a proposed post-season game with some Mid-Western or Eastern eleven to be played at Dallas, Dec. 5.

The list of candidates for the Cadet eleven includes 17 men who have seen varsity service in addition to the 13 lettermen. The remainder of the prospective braves were recruitd fom intramural anks or from the list of the 1930 freshman team playes.

Seventeen Lettermen.

Carl Moulden, tackle and captain from Cisco; O. B. (Maggie) Magrill, Marshall, tackle; J. P. Christian, Abilene, guard, already have two letters in football to tehir credit and will be fighting for a third. The other 1930 lettermen, six of whom will be seniors this year, are J. W. Aston, Farmersville, quarterback; W. E. (Sweetie) Davis, Fot Worth, halfback; W. W. (Pete) Hewitt, Groesbeck, halfback; H. R. Hornsby, Austin, guard; A. A. (Bus) More, Itasca, guard; G. P. Lord, Jourdanton, guard; C. C. Malone, Dallas, end; P. M. McFadden, Cleburne, end; W. M. (Wee Willie) Wolf, Corpus Christi, halfback; Willis Nolan, Santa Rosa, center.

Moulden, Christian, Magrill, Davis, Hewitt, Hornsby, Moore, McFadden and Wolf will be seniors this year.

English Netters in Forefront Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The English players in the international tennis series at the Germantown Cricket club, with four straight victories to their credit, enter the home stretch of the competition without trepidation.

The foremost players the United States can muster stand in their path to a clean sweep of the classic but after yesterday's matches the Britons feel they have little to fear.

John Hope Doeg, United States singles champion, was vanquished yesterday by 17-year-old Marcel Bernard of France, 6-2, 6-4, and the doubles team of Doag and Lott fell before Christian Boussus and Jacques Brugnon of France, 9-7, 6-3.

George Patrick Hughes of England meets Doeg in the singles today and teams with Fed Perry against the Lott-Doeg doubles combination. In another match Ellsworth Vines of California meets Boussus. Andre Merlin of France plays Keither Gledhill, United States, in an exhibition.

Perry, partner of Bunny Austin on the British Davis cup team, won easily from Merlin yesterday, 6-1, 7-5. As a result of its perfect record, English clinched the trophy offered to the team totaling the most points.

Teague High School Lions Have Excellent Gridiron Prospects

TEAGUE, Sept. 3.—(Spl.)—Active football practice for the candidates of the Teague High Lions team started Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 1. This is the third year in succession that Coach Joe Dan Avinger has piloted the fortunes of the orange and white on the gridiron, and last season the Lions lost only one conference game, and this by a margin of one point and to the winner of the conference championship, the I. O. O. F. Home of Corsicana.

Approximately twenty men reported the first day, with a promise of eight or ten more within a day or two. Several of the best men are working and will not be able to report until school starts.

A number of last year's veterans are lost to the team. Among them are W. J. Bottel, veteran back for several seasons, and one of the best football players ever to wear the orange and white; Jackson, ace ass snatcher, who will play with Mexia this season; all four of the last season's ends: Strain, A. Hendon, Preston, and Hearne, Davidson, who was recently sustained an operation; and Lancaster who is attending junior college.

Several Veterans

However, Teague High will still have many of the best men back from last year. "Big Red" Seagraves will again be in the lineup more than 200 pounds of brawn and muscle strong; McSpadden, that weaving back, who called signals last season for many a successful game; and with Elliott and Owens added, there are four backs from last season who can be counted on for some effective work.

In the line and probably centering the ball will again be found "Fighting Hendon," and by his side Marquette, one of the most consistent players ever to "carry on." Pickle, Tuley, and Fitch are other letter men who will fill up gaps in the line.

Among others who are trying for a berth on the squad are: Kennedy, Jones, Perry, Ogle-Pete Davidson, Emmett Botter, thorne, Kennedy, Dodd, Petty and Fredenrich.

Coach Avinger has started his men with two workouts daily, both morning and afternoon sessions, and he promises to have them in condition before the grind of the games starts.

According to Coach Avinger, the schedule of the Lions is as yet incomplete; however it is expected that games will soon be booked for the open dates.

With the large number of veterans back, and with the wealth of new material that is reporting daily, prospects are bright for one of the strongest teams in the history of the Teague Tigh School.

Sixty-five Players Report to Sandies Camp This Season

AMARILLO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Sixty-five candidates for the Golden andle football team reported to Coaches Blair Cherry and Howard "Bull" Lynch for the 1931 training camp. The squad will be cut to 35, Cherry said.

Only seven lettermen of the squad who went to the state finals last year are eligible. Cherry said his line would not suffer from losses from the squad, but that his backfield would be new.

CO-OP ASSOCIATION MEETING DREW LARGE CROWD TUESDAY P. M.

OPPOSE LONG PLAN BUT APPROVE LEGISLATION TO REDUCE COTTON

Considerable opposition was voiced against the Huey Long plan for "no cotton in 1932" at a mass meeting of Navarro county farmers and business men held in the county court room at the courthouse Tuesday night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, but it was also practically unanimously agreed that Governor Sterling should call the legislature into special session for the enactment of laws relative to cotton acreage reduction. The vote was 125 to 52 against the Long plan for a cotton production holiday in 1932, but is was almost unanimously voted for a reduction of present acreage. About 175 voted for a 50 per cent cotton reduction program while about 75 per cent of those present favored a percentage basis of the tillable lands.

A. A. Allison, one of the leaders of the Long plan in this section, stated he was for the Long plan, but he would go with those who did not want to go all the way for reduction to save the south and would take a 50 per cent reduction of present cotton acreage or a one-third of the tillable lands. He declared that those interest in the reduction of the acreage "must not let differences get us in a turmoil and let our opponents defeat all the plans." He said the shippers, compresses, exporters, ginners and others were opposed to cotton acreage reduction. Allison declared "every Long advocate will stand hitched" on any program adopted for reduction.

Large Crowd Present

The court room was filled and a number were forced to sit in the windows and stand in the aisles.

F. N. Drane, Corsicana, presided, and introduced Homer D. Wade, Dallas, representative of the various cooperative associations. He is executive secretary of the cooperative council. He said gins and other industries should use cotton instead of jute and the people should wear cotton clothes. A majority of those present were members of the co-op. Practically all indicated they favored Governor Sterling being advised that cotton reduction be effected by law. Six voted against the proposal.

Against Long Plan

When the propposition of the Long plan for a holiday in 1932 was voted on, 52 voted for it, and 125 opposed it. On the proposition if the Long plan was not passed, practically all voted for a 50 per cent reduction.

Wade stated in his personal judgment the Long plan would cause a long bread line next year. "They cannot enforce the Long plan if it was enacted as public sentiment is against it but the other (reduction) would be easily enforced as 90 per cent of the people are for it," he declared. He said that many of the people were favorable to a ratio on the tillable land being in cotton.

A. N. Justiss, Corsicana, representative from the 58th district, said he had written and wired Governor Sterling he would vote for the Long or McDonald plan of reduction and in his opinion it would be safe to enact either as the law could be changed next January if it was not what the people wanted.

J. R. Donnell, Hillsboro, flotorial representative from Hill and Navarro counties, said he had wired Governor Sterling that he opposed the Long plan but would support a measure for one-third cotton for the cultivated lands. He said he believed such a bill would be constitutional.

Donnell said if the people had made themselves heard during the last special session of the legislature on this question as they are at the present time, a law would have been enacted.

Mr. Wade suggested that the people tell the governor and legislators: "If you are going to do anything, yet busy and do it."

Allison Makes Talk

A. A. Allison, ardent supporter of the Long plan, said that as an advocate of the Long plan, if the people did not go all the way and adopt the Long plan, he was for the other plan to help save the south. He said he would take a 50 per cent reduction or one-third of the tillable land. He said farmers must not let differences get them in turmoils as the opponents would defeat the plans. He charged there were powerful organizations opposing legislation of any plan and named shippers, exporters, compresses, ginners, and others.

Allison said every Long advocate would stand hitched if some other plan was finally adopted.

Mr. Wade said in the event the governor calls the special session of the legislature the people should not be bashful in writing the legislators what they want done, and he was sure the legislators wanted to carry out the wishes of their constituents.

Co-Op Marketing

Turning to another phase of his remarks, Mr. Wade outlined cooperative marketing organizations in America for many years, mentioning the granges, farmers' unions, and others. He declared that the agricultural population was about 30,000,000, about one-third of the national population. He said the three fundamentals of the federal farm board were: (1) Quality and standardization; (2) Economic transportation, eliminating the middleman and bringing the profits back to the producer; and (3) Better merchandising. He rapped those declaring in propaganda against the government getting into busines, and then referred to the postal system, federal reserve banking law to stabilize the banks; payment of the railroads for damages during the war and guaranteeing them five per cent returns on their properties, and merchant marine. The opponents of aiding the agricultural interest did not say anything about the government making straight donations to private business, but now they are howling when the government proposes to loan money to help stabilize agriculture.

Farmer Controlled

Mr. Wade stated any commodity can be in the cooperation association if the proper set-up is formed and it is conducted properly. He rapped certain persons in Texas who are opposing congress, the president, farm board, and others who are trying to help the farmer and characterized them as "jumping jacks." He said live stock, cotton, wool, mohair, watermelons, and other Texas products could be in the cooperative associations. He stated the Texas Cotton Cooperative association was farmer owned and controlled.

H. C. Corbett, Dallas, executive secretary of the State Farm Bureau Federation, said the parent organization aided the associations all it could. He said that there was a severe problem of surpluses, and the surpluses were on hand because no thought was given at the time of planting whether the products could be disposed of at a profit. He said there was a need for organizations in the rural sections. He characterized the world as a neighborhood, that through organization alone should reduction be tackled, as India and other countries might increase their cotton acreage unless there was some kind of understanding. He urged farmers be militant for their rights as had the miners, railroad men, and others, who had gotten what they wanted.

History Association

Walter Murray, Austin, assistant field agent for the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, outlined the early history of cooperative organizations which were buying co-ops. A buying co-op was established in England in 1844, and one-sixth of England's population is trading at those stores today. He outlined the organization of the citrus growers in California. He said the Texas Cotton Cooperative association is trying to get cotton classers at all points so the farmers would get the true worth of their cotton. He said one-third of the people in America are agriculturists, but their buying power is only one-sixth instead of being one-third as it should be.

James D. Coghlin, of Ennis, formerly school superintendent, was introduced.

He told his audience:

"If the men don't think the present situation is a serious thing, run your hands down in your pockets and see if you are not broke."

He declared he was 100 per cent for reduction of cotton acreage, but declared he was afraid the people would be disappointed as there is a world depression on hand. He said credit confidence was snapped during the World war and that had hurt business credits. He said the world's buying power was low, mills are stopped, and people have quit buying.

"How are you going to get 12 cents for your cotton when you can't sell it at six cents?" he asked.

Against Long Plan

"I am against the Long plan," he declared. "If that was adopted and the tenants and laborers were relieved from the farms, the pauper line would be 15,000,000 instead of 7,000,000," he said.

The speaker pointed out the mounting county and city taxes all of the time and he asked when were the people going to stop these conditions and stop the indiscriminate passing of all kinds of laws.

He said a tariff could not be put on jute as it was produced in the Philippines, owned by America, and tariffs now had sent all the wealth to New York.

However, the speaker declared he believed agriculture would come back, and the next government cotton report would be 1,000,000 bales less than the former report, and in his opinion, the price would go up two cents.

"Cotton is our basic wealth," he continued, "and it is not a case over over-production, but of under-consumption." Mr. Coghlin's remarks were frequently applauded.

Must Organize

He said all other industries have organizations for the sale and distribution of their products, and have their business well in hand, but the farmers never have. He said the co-op was trying to take the cotton from the farmer direct to the spinner and bring the extra profits back to the producer. He favored the seasonal pool.

Stocks tumbled three months before the farm board was organized, and he rapped those who have attributed the depression to the board.

A resolution was passed, petitioning congress to leave the marketing act at it is at the present time except changes wanted by friends of the legislation.

Coghlin said a determined effort would be made to secure the repeal of the marketing act by its enemies.

Mr. Wade suggested that if 10,000 farmers marched in Austin it would be a living message to the law-makers what they wanted. He declared present times were more strenuous than during the war period, and urged that all put aside their selfishness and bring back prosperity.

W. C. Gillean, local manager of the co-op, was introduced and said he wanted the farmers to get every cent possible for their cotton.

FARM BOARD QUITS BUYING COTTON AS REMEDY AGAINST OVER-PRODUCTION STAPLE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The farm board has abandoned the buying of cotton for price stabilization purposes because it has found after two years that the practice was not the remedy for the over-production situation.

The announcement was made late yesterday by Acting Chairman Carl Williams, the board member for cotton. He said the agency was not considering "the purchase of cotton under any circumstances" because such practice was futile in view of continued excessive outputs. The same idea, he said, applied to wheat, the price of which is depressed by increased production.

With the announcement of cotton, the board rejected the scores of suggestions by southern senators and growers that it continue the purchase of the staple to maintain prices. It was made after a conference between Williams and members of the cotton advisory committee at which relief plans were discussed, including that to reduce cotton acreage.

Asserting that for two years the board had "cushioned the American farmer, particularly the raisers of cotton and wheat against price declines that have affected other commodities and industries," Williams said, "the board has discovered" that of the commodities for price bolstering purposes 'is not the remedy for the situation."

FOUR FIRST CLASS MIDSHIPMEN FORCED TO QUIT ACADEMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Four first class midshipmen at the Annapolis naval academy have been forced to resign because of escapades in foreign ports during teh recent annual summer cruise.

Secretary Adams of the navy, said the resignations were demanded because of "unfortunate behavior" of the midshipmen, who reported to have engaged Copenhagens' police in street fighting.

The ousted men were John R. Parks, Columbia, Mo.; George R. Fink, Haddon, N. J.; Earl S. Schweitzer, McKeesport, Pa., and Colwell E. Beers, Keysville, Mo.

A fifth student may be asked to resign. Several other midshipmen, less involved in the affair, were punished at the academy. Secretary Adams did not divulge their names.

The conduct of the midshipmen was reported by Rear Admiral Claude C. Bloch, commander of two battlships taking 900 naval studnts to Europe, to Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, academy superintendent. Hart recommended their dismissal after hearing the midshipmen's statements in their own behalf.

Although in cases of outright dismissal of military and naval officers, executive ratification is necessary, this regulation does not apply to these cases wherein the resignations were forced.

COL. CHAS. A. DAVIS MADE INSTRUCTOR OF MILITARY AT TECH

Col. Charles A. Davis, commanding officer of the 131st Field Artillery, Texas national guard, and a leader in military affairs in Corsicana for many years, will be professor of military science and tactics at Texas Technological college at Lubbock this yerr, according to information received here recently.

Two units of the artillery regiment have been located at the college where a new $25,000 armory has recently been completed, and there is a possibility of a third battery being placed there, Col. Davis said Wednesday. This regiment is located principally in West Texas towns.

Regimental headquarters for the 131st Field Artillery will be moved to Lubbock after having been located in Corsicana for several years. This will entail the transfer of Capt. H. J. Thornton, instructor and inspector, and Sgt. Walter McGinnis to the new Lubbock headquarters.

Colonel Davis is scheduled to report to his new assignment about Sept. 15, and will move his family as soon as possible. He has been active in military affairs in Corsicana for many years, commanding old Battery D in pre-war days, and also led that unit overseas until promoted. He was connected with the 132nd Field Artillery for several years after the war until he was transferred to his present regiment.

TWO DEAD, THREE WOUNDED IN BATTLE NEAR FORT SMITH

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Two men were killed and three wounded late last night in a highway gun fight that occurred when officers hunting a group of filling station bandits tried to halt an approaching automobile.

The dead were Police Captain W. A. Bourland and a suspected robber identified as Orb Crow of Tulsa and Bartlesville, Okla. His companions, who gave their names as Everett and Ted Wackerly, were in a hospital under guard today in critical condition from their wounds.

Patrolman Ralph Howard, who was with Captain Bourland, also was wounded.

Officers said Crow and the Wackerly's were identified today by J. E. Cantwell of Spiro, Ark., as the three men who robbed his filling station.

Weather Interrupts Open Air Revival On Wednesday Evening

The revival in progress on Thirteenth avenue was hindered last night by threatening showers. However, service was held at the Methodist Protestant church. Kenneth spoke on "What Are You Going to Do With Jesus?" He pointed out that the people's answer in Pilate's hall was "Crucify Him!" "Today," Copeland said, "they are still saying 'Crucify Him'." He continued, "I am not asking you what you did with Him yesterday or what you intend to do with Him tomorrow. I am asking you what you intend to do with Him now." At the close of the service two raised their hand for prayer. Let's keep them on our prayer list.

The young people's service increased last night to about 75. Let us reach our 100 tonight. We are inviting all of the young people of the city to attend these services; they are interdenominational. The youthful evangelist will speak tonight on the subject, "Corsicana Is Weighed." Remember that striking subject and coem hear the boy give his opinion, based on the Bible, on the weighing of human souls.—Reporter.

MANY CHANGES IN LOCATIONS OF LOCAL BUSINESS CONCERNS

MOVING TIME TAKES SEVERAL OLD TIME BUSINESSES NEW PLACES

By the end of the current week, a business map of Corsicana will require numerous changes to keep pace with the shifting of various firms from their former quarters to new ones. Several additions are also under way to the down town business section.

Leading the parade of "movers" was the C. A. Tripp Hardware company, who transferred their concern from the 100 block on North Beaton street to the quarters formerly occupied by the C. E. Stone company. This change was effected several days ago, and the hardware company is now doing business in the new home.

A. S. Genecov has made a permanent location in the building formerly occupied by Rhoads Brothers on North Beaton street, where he was located after the fire on Christmas night had destroyed his former quarters on the opposite side of the street in the same block. A new front and new decorations have considerably enhanced the new Red Front store quarters.

J. Kaplan, formerly located on the east side of the 100 block on North Beaton street, has moved his stock to the former quarters of the Red Front store adjoining Golden Brothers. He also still occupies one building of his old quarters.

The Salvage Shoe store, under the management of S. W. Burdine, started moving Tuesday morning from the former quarters of the Reese Jewelry company to quarters vacated by J. Kaplan, immediately across the street.

New Theatres

The building formerly housing the Reese Jewelry company is under lease to the Publix corporation, and plans have been drawn for a new theatre to be housed in the structure after extensive improvements have been made. Milton Overman, local representative of the Publix theatres, announced Monday that plans had been completed on the new show house, and that further announcemet concerning remodeling of the structure was expected within a few days.

Work is also expected to start Tuesday on the remodeling, renovation and modernizing of the Grand theatre on South Beaton street, after several months' shut down. The show house is under lease to C. J. Musselman of Paris, who formerly operated shows in Corsicana as well as the North Texas city.

The Grand is expected to open late in September as a modern theatre, with the latest in sound equipment and other attractions.

"Moving day" was also declared in order Tuesday by the Jolesch Shoe company who are transferring to the building formerly occupied by the C. A. Tripp Hardware company. Work of redecorating the building started Tuesday and the store will open late in the week with an almost entirely next stock, Marvin Thomas, manager, announced Tuesday. The store will be closed for the next few days, and notice of the formal opening will be made later in the week.

Safeway Stores in Large Quarters

New quarters for the Safeway Stores, successors to Piggly Wiggly, were completed last week and work of moving the stock and fixtures from the two stores formerly located on Beaton street has been started to the new quarters in the Hardy-Peck building at the intersection of West Sixth avenue and Main street.

The former quarters of the Walton Furniture company have been extensively remodeled by W. M. Peck for the new home of the Safeway Stores, and the grocery is expected to open later in the week in one of the most up-to-date stores in Central Texas.

It has been learned from reliable sources that a new shoe store will be opened shortly in the quarters formerly occupied by the Jolesch Shoe company. Opening date, name, and manager of the new firm will be announced later in the week.

Building Remodeling

Work is rapidly nearing completion on the extensive improvements to the home of the First National bank. Bids will also be let within the next few days for the extensive remodeling of the building formerly occupied by Young Brothers at the intersection of South Main street and West Seventh avenue which will be the new home of R. L. Calkins, Ford dealer.

Brown's High School pharmacy is also preparing to move from the Gage building to the building formerly occupied by Piggly Wiggly on West Fifth avenue. The pharmacy is expected to open in its new quarters the latter part of the week. The new location is being remodeled and redecorated for the new tenant.

The exterior of the Marks Brothers building at the corner of West Fourth avenue and North Beaton street is also bein refinished and overhauled and improvements are also being made on the interior of the building.

The Outlet store, operated by the J. M. Dyer company in their former quarters on North Beaton street, was moved Monday night to new quarters in the Cerf building just south of J. Jacobs' former location.

Martial Law

expressed dissatisfaction with the well basis of the order.

Governor Sterling said he and the commission were working together on the problem and that he felt sure an amicable adjustment would be reached.

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Fate of the first proration order of the new state conservation bill, designed to curb oil production in the vast East Texas field, rested entirely today with Gov. Ross S. Sterling through his power of martial law.

Last night shortly after the railroad commission had announced its order for the field, calling for a flat production of 225 barrels per well, Governor Sterling announced the order would not become effective until he made it effective. The commission would make the order effective Saturday.

"Sit tight and keep the clamp on every well in the field until an executive order is issued," were Governor Sterling's orders to Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, commandant of the 60 mile military law oil strip. Instructions were given to General Wolters by telephone from Austin after the proration order was made public.

Oil operators were puzzled as to what the next move in the East Texas area would be, but they were quite generally convinced it would be up to Governor Sterling. With the oil zone under martial law rule he can set aside any order issued by the commission, oil men who have studied the question, believe.

The order as finally drawn was signed by all three commissioners. It was to remain in effect for 60 days.

Sees Heavy Drilling.

Governor Sterling based his opposition to the proration order on the ground that cdeation of a flat rate per well will enable the major companies to carry on an extensive drilling campaign which the independents can not finance and thus crowd the small producers out of the field. He has expressed belief that the order would lead to a tremendous drilling orgy which would damage the field.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, estimated production in the field, under the order, would total approximately 340,000 barrels daily.

Independent operators expressed indignation at the order, claiming enforcement would leave them helpless in the field. Many delegations conferred with the governor after the order was announced, urging him to keep troops in the field and prevent the order from going into effect.

Signing of the order by Commissioner Pat Neff, former governor, came as a surprise. Neff had held out against a somewhat similar draft of the order which was never issued.

Provisions of Order.

Other provisions of the order were:

Offset wells cannot be drilled within 350 feet of the property line, and other wells must be at least 660 feet.

Each well will be required to be equipped with a blowout preventer as a safety measure and the use of a gas or air lift will be prohibited.

Operators will be prevented from drilling more than two-thirds into the oil sand from the top of the sand to the known water level.

Tubing larger than two and one-half inches will be prohibited Tubing must be dropped to within 50 feet of the sand and must not be lowered into the sand.

Wells must be tubed before being brought into production and an agent of the commission must be notified and be present before the well is brought in.

Flowing of wells through the derrick will be prohibited. Discharge pipes must be at least 50 feet from the derrick.

Expect Sterling to Advance New Plans

KILGORE, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Belief that Gov. Ross S. Sterling would set up an executive proration plan under fartial law rule was gaining ground among oil producers here today.

Oil men based their belief on the deadlock existing in Austin due to Governor Sterling's dissatisfaction with the order of the railroad commission, providing for a flat rate of 225 barrels for each well.

Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commandant of the martial law area, was ready to place any program into execution immediately upon receipt of an executive order. Data regarding the oil storage was nearly completed. Latest storage figures were given as 752,000 barrels.

General Wolters estimates that 1806 wells will begin to flow when an order is made effective. At the time of closing the number was pinced at 1600 but there has been no ban on drilling during the time the field has been shut down by martial law.

Requirements Withdrawn.

TOPEKA, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Kansas public service commission announced today the withdrawal of its requirement for sale of oil from the Ritz-Canton pool at $1 a barrel price basis. The commission's order for a 90 per cent shutdown of all wells in the area remained in effect.

Gulf Boosts East Texas Oil.

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)— The Gulf Pipe Line Company today announced a posted price of 68 cents flat for East Texas crude, effective at 7 a. m. No reason was assigned for the advance which amounts to roundly 55 cents, East Texas crude selling at an average price of 13 cents a barrel on the open market.

Proration Order to Increase Drilling

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—R. L. Dudley, publisher of the Oil Weekly, declared today that the immediate effect of the Texas railroad commission order establishing proration in the East Texas oil fields on a basis of 225 barrels per well daily "will be to stimulate the drilling of additional wells on inside locations." He said it also would result in increased equipment of East Texas wells for pumping.

"The well basis laid down by the commission will cause most operators to go ahead and drill their 'inside locations' in order to prevent drainage of these properties by the approximately 1800 wells now completed and ready to begin production as soon as martial law is lifted," he said.

"It is the opinion of some major operators that the crude oil market will absorb 440,000 barrels of East Texas crude oil a day on the basis of a price of 68 cents which is in general effect in that field. Of course, what happens in Oklahoma may affect this market price to a material extent. In view of the approaching low winter gasoline demand, a higher production than 400,000 barrels in East Texas will prove dangerous," he added.

"Predictions are being freely made that between 1000 and 1300 additional wells will be drilled in East Texas between now and the first of the year unless the railroad commission revises its order. Such a revision is a possibility, inasmuch as the order was issue on 'open docket' and is subject to revision without notice or hearing, any new order issued being based on the testimony entered at the Austin hearing last week.

"Some oil men take this to mean that the commission does not intend to let the situation get out of hand but inasmuch as the commission's orders can be based only on the ground of conservation many feel that it is doubtful if the order will be further interfered with."

MORE OF WHEAT SURPLUS TO BE MARKETED THIS YEAR IN FORM LIVESTOCK, POULTRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—An increasing portion of the wheat surplus this year will reach the market in the from of live stock and poultry.

Some of the grain was fed last year but many farmers were slow to put it in the feed bins because it was a new thing in their experience.

Reports to the agriculture department this year, however, indicate that the continued price decline has broken down inhibitions.

The department and the farm board approve. Experts say there is little difference in the nutritive value of a bushel of wheat and a bushel of corn.

For the past few months, they calculated, that wheat has been much cheaper than corn for feeding purposes.

Satisfactory results were obtained through wheat feeding in most of the instances that have come to the deparment's attention. Horses thrive on its provided there is a proper mixture of other feedstuffs.

Three or four among a group of 36 Illinois farmers who reported the results of wheat feeding were disappointed, seven said results were better than those obtained from corn, and 23 believed they were as good.

The Minnesota experiment station recently estimated that the cost of adding 100 pounds of weight to cattle was $4.75 where corn costing 55 cents a bushel was fed. Using wheat bought at 38 cents the cost of adding the 100 pounds was lowered to $3.03.

Live stock experts are convinced that wheat feeding at present prices to live stock is economical. A mixture of corn and wheat is advised where both are plentiful, and the price margin is thin.

PINK BOLL WORM SEARCH WORK HAS BEEN SIMPLIFIED

E. B. Norwood of San Antonio, of the United States department of agriculture, spent a few hours in Corsicana Wednesday, visiting wtih his brother, Dr. E. P. Norwood and family, en route to East Texas where he and his crew will begin an active campaign in pink bollworm investigation.

Mr. Norwood states that Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana are being studied by a large number of men, seeking information about the cotton pest. He and his crew have an area of 29 counties assigned them in East Texas.

Formerly a large number of inspectors were sent into the fields for the studies, but the areas to be covered made a thorough test impossible. Under the new system, a machine is set up at some central location and gin trash from all of the surrounding territory is brought to this point and sifted through the machine which segregates all of the worms in the debris. Use of machines enables a wider area to be covered and more thorough work to be done, according to Mr. Norwood.

A crew is expected to be working in the Navarro county sector within a few days.

Farish Says Order Permits too Much Oil

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—W. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company said today his impression of the state railroad commission's new oil proration order for East Texas was that it provided for production of too much oil and "puts a premium on unnecessary development."

"We are approaching the winter season, when consumption of American oil will fall off 300,000 to 400,000 barrel a day as compared to the summer season," said Farish.

"The findings of the commission apparently are to the effect that the per well production between 200,000 and 300,000 barrels a day does not mean waste.

"If the commission adheres to this decision, it would mean a larger quantity of East Texas than can be readily absorbed. The order apparently perpetuates the inequities now existing due to some areas being drilled more densely than other areas.

"The order apparently limits future development to one well to 10 acres. This, in my opinion, should have been one well to 20 acres. The order apparently puts a premium on unnecessary development and benefits those concerns or individuals that can finance their development on a long term basis, rather than quick turnover. There apparently is no limit to the number of wells or the amount of oil the field might produce under the order.

"In order to avoid the perpetuation of the inequities existing on account of high development on certain leases, producers who are able to do so will promptly drill up their acreage.

"This will lead to the drilling of many thousands of wells and to the withdrawal of excessive quantities of oil from the reservoir and in the dissipation of the gas energy of the pool, lowering of the reservoir pressure and the rapid encroachment of water, which will materially cut down the ultimate recovery of oil from the pool, which is actual physical waste of the worst type.

"The Humble company will naturally, as it has in the past, observe the commission's order in every way possible, and we will endeavor to adjust our business to live under it whether or not we approve of it."

Corsicana Man Weds Frost Girl Sunday In Quiet Ceremony

The young couple will make their home in Corsicana. Mr. Jackson is an employe of the Firestone Service Stores, Inc.

Veterans Make Heavy Demands on Government

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was on record today as favoring immediate payment of the federal adjusted compensation certificates and the refunding of interest on payments already advanced.

Disregarding the advice of Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, and Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant secretary of the treasury, that former soldiers refrain from demanding additional federal aid during the present depression, the veterans voted yesterday that a resolution embodying the two measures be drafted.

Mrs. Lee Jayroe and daughter, Talmadge, returned home Sunday after a week's visit with relatives at Avalon.

The topic of the day is the present cotton situation. After discussing the matter with farmers and business men, we find that all are in favor of some legislation that would give us a material reduction in acreage. A large majority are against the Long plan and say it would mean ruin for the south if not for the whole nation, but are for, at least, a 50 per cent reduction, or a law to prohibit the planting of over one-half the cultivated land in cotton. Those who favor total prohibition of cotton seem to be a small minority.

GANGLAND BLAMED IN DOUBLE MURDER AT HOUSTON MONDAY

WOMAN'S FATHER TAKES HAND IN INVESTIGATION OF TRAGEDY

HOUSTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Gangland activities with ramifications extending through several states were being investigated today by police in connection with the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones in their fashionable apartment shortly before noon yesterday.

Police say they are positive of the identity of two men, believed to have fired the fatal shots, and a woman driver of an antomobile which was seen to speed away from the Jones apartment immediately after the shooting.

A gang of gunmen and holdup men, with headquarters in Dallas, Jones' old home, is blamed for putting the couple "on the spot."

Police believe revenge was the motive for the double slaying. Their theory is that gangsters had a grudge against Jones, a former convict, and that his wife was slain at the same time to assure her silence.

"You've got your Chicago here, gentlemen," was the statement of W. F. Martin, oil man of Humble and father of Mrs. Jones, who arrived at the scene of the murder shortly after the shooting.

"I'm not going to rest until I find out who killed my daughter and her husband.

"They were shot down in cold blood."

It was learned that Martin late yesterday requested Attorney Maury Hughes over long distance telephone to rush a man held in the Dallas jail to Houston by airplane.

"The man he is going to get for me can tell us who killed them," Martin told Assistant District Attorney Frank Williford and Deputy Sheriffs Frank Neville and George Andrew.

Williford said a statement had been obtained from a pedestrian who was in the vicinity of the apartment on Montrose Boulevard when the shots rang out.

The two trigger men and their

woman accomplice were described in the statement, according to Williford.

The assistant district attorney quoted the pedestrians' statement as saying that one of the murderers wore a dark suit and the other was in his shirt sleeves when they fled from the rear of the apartment house, across the vacant lot, to a parked automobile.

"One of the men ran to the rear of the automobile and turned the license plates up," Williford said the statement read. "The other man jumped in the automobile beside a woman at the wheel. The car sped away.

"He gave such a good description of the woman that we are positive of her identity."

Seek Assassin Bullets.

Williford visited the apartment house today in an attempt to tear up the floors and walls and get bullets which lodged there when ten shots were fired at Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

The couple clad only in pajamas, were found by C. C. Bell, Jr., owner of the apartment, after a tenant had telephoned him of the shooting in the lower apartment.

Footsteps were found near the rear door, indicating that two men had fled by that way.

Police believe that Mr. and Mrs. Jones were lounging on the bed when the gunmen entered. The fan was running, the radio was playing and the bedding was ruffled up.

Two Sought In Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Police were trying today to apprehend two men suspected of complicity in the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones at Houston yesterday. The two suspects were believed to be members of a gang of bank robbers with headquarters at Dallas. Operations of the gang were alleged to have spread widely through the southwest.

Dallas police were seeking the men on the theory that they shot Mr. and Mrs. Jones in connection with money which had been collected to fight for the release of two alleged bank robbers under arrest at Memphis, Tenn.

The wife of one of the men sought here was believed to have introduced the killers to their victims, leaving them in the Jones apartment where the fatal shots were fired.

Records of Slain Man

Fingerprints of Jones were found to be identical with those of a man known to police as "Chester Jones, alias Charlie Martin, alias Keggy Jones, alias Clarence Jones." He was sent to the penitentiary from Hall county in 1916 on burglary and felony theft charges but received a full pardon on July 6, 1917. He was convicted for burglary a second time in the same county in February, 1918, and was given a conditional pardon April 17, 1920. He again was convicted of burglary and felony theft charges in Cook county on March 5, 1921, and was sentenced to eight years. A conditional pardon released him on July 31, 1925.

Recently he had been engaged in the oil business here and few associates knew of his past record.

HOOVER-MELLON DELAY DECISION INCREASE TAXES

REPUBLICAN INDEPENDENTS FAVOR HIKE; OTHERS FAVOR BONDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—In the 62 days of the new fiscal year, the government has rolled up a deficit of $396,365,000.

This was recorded today by the daily treasury statement. Just two months ago the treasury ended the 1931 fiscal year with a deficit of $903,000,000. This was wiped out by an addition to the public debt and the government started the new year with a clean slate.

The figures were announced as President Hoover and administration officials went ahead with a study of the nation's finances with a view to determining whether the president shall recommend an increase in taxes or resort to another bond issue.

Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, which passes upon the allocation of funds to the government departments, said today federal expenditures for the next fiscal year would be cut drastically and that he wanted to start with the army and navy.

During the first 62 days of the new fiscal year $144,000,000 more was spent than during the same period of last year.

The treasury statement as of August 31 showed that in the two months the government income had amounted to $230,399,151 and expenditures were $626,764,751.

The receipts from all sources were only about $11,000,0000 less than in the first two months of last year but the increased expenditures brought the deficit for the two months to $156,000,000 more than the deficit in the same period of a year ago.

Building Program.

The chief increase in the expenses was in the fund which includes money spent in carrying on the public building and public works program. The postal deficiency for two months doubled as compared with that for the same period a year ago.

On the receipt side of the ledger income taxes dropped $9,000,000 to a total of $46,579,466. Miscellaneous internal revenue declined $14,000,000 to $95,197,351 and customs duties totalled $72,719,738, an increase of approximately $14,000,000, as compared with a year ago when for the two months they were about $18,000,000 under the average.

During August, the public debt increased $62,000,000 to a total of $16,863,781 due to issuance of securities to raise money needed by the government.

Navy Will Be Idle.

Referring to his proposal to start trimming expenditures for the navy and the army, Wood asked:

"Why in heaven's name should we build our navy up to the treaty limits when it will have nothing to do after we have built it?"

The government, he said, must begin to sober up in its spending.

"When the people were spending like drunkards," he said, "they didn't object to the government spending the same way. Now that the people have begun spending seriously and soberly the government had better begin to spend the same way."

Asked if he was opposed to further appropriations for the farm board, Wood held his hands over his head and said:

"I don't know. I think we had all better begin praying now and watching for deliverance."

Wood added that he could not say whether additional appropriations would be necessary for the farm board. He expressed hope that it would not require more funds.

His sub-committees on the house appropriations committee probably will not get to work about November 1, he added.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The day of reckoning on how to balance next year's budget of the government will await further study of business conditions by the administration.

Confident that the next few months would show a recovery and a consequent increase in income tax receipts, President Hoover is withholding decision whether to recommend an increase in taxes or to resort again to a bond issue to meet another prospective deficit.

So far there is every indication that the next fiscal year will show a difference of about $1,000,000,000 between government expenditures and receipts.

Mr. Hoover has been advised by congressional leaders that a recommendation for a tax increase would mean a bitter contest over the vital issue of how to raise new revenue. In view of this, republican leaders are hopeful that the treasury will see its way clear to tide over the depression by another series of bond issues similar to those of this year.

Secretary Mellon whose word will go a long way in the final decision, already has suggested that the American taxation system be put on a broader base, intimating that he favored new excise taxes similar to those of the war period, to assure the nation a more even flow of revenue.

While Mr. Mellon is joining the President in withholding a recommendation pending further study of the business outlook, republican independents have gone on record for a tax increase.

However, the republican independents would raise the additional revenue by increasing the rates on higher incomes; restoring a gift tax; and boosting the estate tax levies.

This program does not coincide with that in mind by Secretary Mellon. Therefore, the congressional leaders see every prospect of a long drawn out fight should Mr. Hoover recommend the tax increase.

Leaders In Agreement.

It so happens that both republicans and democrats among the congressional leadership are advocating a resort again next year to the issuance of either bond i ues or short term securities to meet the deficit. They have pointed out to the administration that in this year of depression the government is able to get any amount of money it needs at low rates of interest.

Congressional leaders also have in mind that next year is campaign year and voting for an increase in taxation in such times is looked at twice.

Mr. Hoover also has been warned that once congress starts to increase taxes there is likely to be no limit and that revenue may be sought not only to meet the deficit but to finance new projects.

Secretary Mellon told the president the government's revenue was so dependent upon income tax returns from those of individuals and corporations that he feels they are too variable, colsely allied with business trends.

JUGOSLAVIA RETURNED TO LIBERAL CONSTITUTION ON DECREE OF KING ALEXANDER

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Sept. 3.—(AP)—General Peter Zivkovitch president of the Jugoslavian cabinet, today handed King Alexander his resignation and that of his ministry in conformance with the kings' decree returning the country to constitutional government after two years of dictatorship.

The king immediately gave him a mandate to form a new government and the general reconstituted a cabinet of the same members, who were sworn in forthwith.

BELGRADE, Jugoslaivia, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Jugoslavia, kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, returned to constitutional government today after more than two years of distatorship under the iron fist of King Alexander.

The king issued decrees at an extraordinary session of the cabinet last night proclaiming a new constitution to supersede the suspended bill of rights of 1921 and appointing a new ministry representative of the traditional political parties.

His proclamation as posted in the streets said that he was convinced that the experience obtained during the dictatorship now permitted a definite organization of state institutons and that he intended carrying out a national policy on a broad basis on direct collaboration with the people.

The new constitution assures civil liberties and political right similar to those in Western European countries, as well as liberty of the press. Re-constitution of the ancient province of Slovendi, long a sore spot in the territorial changes growing out of the world war, also is provided for.

Legislative power will be vested in a chamber and a senate. The chamber will be elected by universal, direct suffrage and secret ballot for four years, meeting in ordinary session on October 20 of each year. The senate membership will sit for six years, half being chosen by the pople and half appointed by the sovereign.

Eight new ministers were appointed to the cabinet—six without portfolios. Three belong to the old radical party, one to the democratic party, one to the independent democratic party, one to the Clovene agrarian party and two to the independent party.

King Alexander broke a deadlock between Serb and Croat deputies in 1929 by susuending the highly centralized constitution of 1921 and appointing General Zivkovic as prime minister to carry out a program of unity, decentralization and improved administration.

FARM WOMEN OF NAVARRO FILL PANTRY SHELVES MANY VARIETIES OF CANNED FOODS

Farm women of Navarro county have filled their pantry shelves with far more than a quarter of a million cans of fruits, vegetables and meats to supply their families during the fall and winter months according to a recent survey by Miss Janie Sowell, Navarro county home demonstration agent.

Since January 1, over 180 canners, and 160 sealers have been sold to farm wives by merchants of Corsicana, and a large number of others have been sold by merchants at Irene, Frost, Blooming Grove, Kerens, and other towns in Navarro county but no figures are available from these sources.

From Corsicana merchants alone, Navarro county women have purchased more than 250,000 cans, which have been filled with all varieties of meats and other foods, the average club woman's pentry including some twenty-five varieties of fruits, vegetables and meats for winter consumption.

In twelve communities in the county where home demonstration clubs are located, Miss Sowell reports the same 250 out of 260 members, have well-filled pantries sufficient to supply their families during the winter. Further investigation had led to a well-founded belief that each club woman has influenced at least three other women to can some foods for winter months, and it is believed that more than a thousand families have a large portion of their food supply for the coming weeks and months now on their pantry shelves.

Eleven communities have 'community canners'' which are used by groups of four women. No accurate check can be secured at present on the actual saving in dollars and cents to the farmers of Navarro county through the energy and thriftiness of the wives and their canning activities. Practically all of the cans sold so far have been filled by products from spring and summer gardens, and in almost every community plans are well-advanced for fall gardens which will considerably increase the totals of the food reserve of the county.

Every farm woman has been urged and assisted in every way possible by the home demonstration agent to prepare a reserve pantry adequate to supply a healthy quantity of vegetables for the members of her family during the winter. The survey of canning activities is being continued and more detailed reports may be expected in the near future.

BRUSHIE PRAIRIE

BRUSHIE PRAIRIE, Sept. 3.—(Spl.)—Misses Katie and Lorene French and Pearl Raley returned home the latter part of last week from Denton where they attended school during the summer.

Farmers in this community seem to think it a bad idea to take the plan introduced by Governor Long. Some land in this community is only cotton land, and, too, a large feed crop would be wasted as there is no sale for such, and no means of storage and no way to consume all raised. Most farmers, especially tenants, owe a debt of some kind and at the price of cotton this year, it will be impossible for it to be paid in 1931. A majority of the farmers are in favor of a reduction on cotton acreage to at least two-thirds or one-half.

Beauty Chats

By Edna Kent Forbes

All requests for beauty information desired by Edna Kent Forbes' column followers must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope (s. a. s. e.) and two cents in stamps to cover cost of printing and handling.

For the illustrated pamphlet, "BEAUTY," ten cents in stamps with fully s.a.s.e. must be enclosed. Address Miss Forbes in care of this paper.

BEAUTY ECONOMIES

Miss Forbes gives the formulae for several bleaches which you, who are tired of sunburn, or who have had too much of it, will want to make for yourselves. These cost nothing, almost, to make at home.

Try some of these. They are not hard to make, they are very cheap and they will take the place of quite expensive cosmetics. Put aside the money you save for a very nice new hat—only don't buy the hat yet, wait until we have decided what fashions we really are going to wear this winter.

Take half a dozen nice sized cucumbers, chop them up into small bits, put the bits into a par to get a general idea of their bulk, put them into another jar twice as large, fill the first jar with as much alcohol as cucumber and pour this over the cucumbers. That is, the alcohol equals roughly the amount of the cucumber. Cover and let this stand for 14 to 18 hours, then cover the top of the jar with cheesecloth and let the juice strain off through this. Then, to every eight ounces of juice, add one ounce of castile soap, shaved fine, (unless you can buy it powdered). Add four ounces of almond oil, and two of rose water, a few drops of tincture of bezoin, and shake and shake until you have a smooth emulsion. Use this as often as you want on the face. Let it dry into the skin, or if it sems sticky, wipe off the stickiness with a wad of cotton, and use this as a powder foundation, or wash it off after half an hour. It is to bleach off the summer sunburn and to make the sun-dried skin smooth and white and fresh-looking.

A variation of this is to make the cucumber essence with alcohol, and to add an ounce and a half of glycerine instead of the almond oil. Or, if you cannot get alcohol, stew your cucumbers with a little water, strain, add twice as much fresh water as you have cucumber juice, then add the glycerine, and half a dozen drops of tincture of benzoin.

Any of these cucumber formulas is good for chapped hands and for sun-tanned hands as well. The cucumber lotions can be used winter as well as summer.

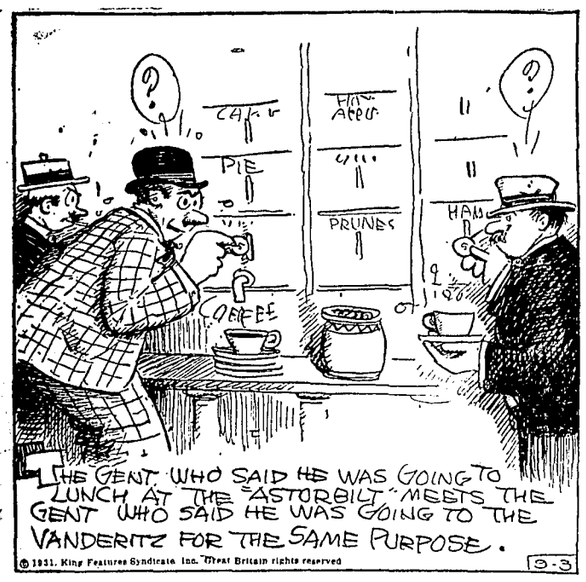

M. E. S.—The blackhead powder is made by mixng together two ounces of corn starch, one ounce of almond meal. If you find it inconvenient to purchase the almond meal, use plain flour as a substitute but work into the whole mixture then a level tablespoonful of olive or sweet almond oil. If very cold water is used every day after bathing or massaging there will hardly ever be any need for an astringent. A few drops of tincture of benzoin added to a basin of water, preferably cold, will make an astringent bath that may be used at special times when the skin needs extra toning. Witch hazel dabbed over the skin from a small piece of absorbent cotton is very refreshing, and it also has astringent qualities.

OWEN D. YOUNG IS NAMED CHAIRMAN OF EFFORTS AT RELIEF

NATIONAL RELIEF DIRECTOR ANNOUNCES IMPORTANT APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Appointment of Owen D. Young of New York as chairman of the committee to co-ordinate local unemployment relief efforts was announced today by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director.

Gifford said Young, chairman of the General Electric Company, had agreed to serve.

The committee's job will be to co-ordinate efforts of state authorities and welfare organizations in raising unemployment relief funds.

Young, woh has been mentioned as possible Democratic presidential nominee, already s a member of the Natonal Advisory Committee set up by President Hoover to assist Gifford.

Gifford announced also a committee of 18 members to assist Young, including Walter Teagle, New York, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and friend of President Hoover, and others nationally known.

Others appointed were:

James F. Bell, Minneapolis; Charles Claiborne, New Orleans; Pierre DuPont, Wilmington; Fred Fisher, Detroit; Carl Gray, Omaha; H. C. Knight, New Haven; H. E. Lloyd, Philadelphia; J. F. Lucey, Dallas; Conrad Mann, Kansas City; Camuel Mather, Cleveland; William Cooper Procter, Cincinnati; Edward L. Ryerson Jr., Chicago; Myron C. Taylor, New York; Oscar Wells, Birmingham; William Allen White, Emporia, Kas., and Matthew Woll, of Washington.

Gifford announced that statewide committees appointed by the governors of states and concerned with all phases of unemployment relief are already active in many states.

He urged that such committees be appointed in all the states that face an unemployment problem this winter.

Questionnaire Shows Veterans Unemployed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—More than 61,000 disabled veterans of the World war were reported today by E. C. Babcock, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, as out of jobs.

Babcock's announcement was based on a questionnaire sent by the veterans' administration to nearly 300,000 men on its compensation rolls. Returns from nearly half of them showed 46,424 employed; 61,666 out of work, and 11,278 unemployable.

The veterans' organization made arrangements in July for cooperation between the veterans' administration and the federal employment service to find jobs for the partially disabled qualified former service men.

The questionnaires were sent out by the veterans' administration returnable to the labor department, which is attempting to find jobs for the men through the employment service.

Meanwhile, President Hoover's unemployment relief organization emphasized it plans to meet the distress problem through local agencies.

Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, issued a statement saying the organization "is not instituting a campaign for a national fund, but plans nation-wide support of local appeals for local funds."

The relief organization has recommended all relief fund campaigns be conducted between Oct. 19 and Nov. 25.

"Insofar as all local campaigns are scheduled within this period," Gifford said, "the president's organization hopes to render the maximum assistance and cooperation by mobilizing all national agencies for stimulation of interest in local efforts."

Gifford was expected to appoint an assistant today to be responsible for this "stimulation of interest in local efforts."

Johnson Criticizes Unemployment Aid

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Senator Hiram Johnson criticized the national administration as "futile and inept" in its policy for unemployment relief in an address before the state American Legion convention here yesterday.

Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the Legion, said that 15 per cent of the World War veterans are unemployed and that "thousands slept in the parks" last winter.

A candidate for national commander, John A. Elden, commander of the Ohio department, said the government was lending money to China at an interest rate less than that charged on veterans' loans.

Senator Johnson said: "I care not if Morgan chooses to send $200,000,000 for relief of distress in other lands, but if you value our institutions as you did when you took up arms for them, you will say to the internationalists, 'feed peoples beyond the seas if you will, but under providence of God you shall feed America first.'"

TWO HUNDRED ARE BELIEVED DROWNED PORTO RICO FLOOD

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The newspaper La Democracia said today that 200 persons were drowned last night at Ponca when the Portugues river rose in flood.

The number of dead could not be verified immediately but first reports to the police said many small houses along the river bank had been carried away by the torrent.

The Portugues river skirts the outlying district of Ponce and native huts are scattered all along its shore. Ordinarily the water level is low and often it is entirely dry, but in flood time the stream becomes treacherous.

Heavy rain which began yesterday and continued all night caused the flood and brought much damage to the sugar cane crop.

At noon the cable office at Ponce reported that 10 bodies had ben found.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 2 points. Overnight selling orders seemed to come partly from the South and were probably combined with local selling on the lower stock market and reports of heavy selling on the Berlin boerse at the re-opening today. December sold off to 6.98 and March to 7.27 under the initial pressure but offerings were readily absorbed and the market steadied several points on covering. There were partial reactions from an early advance in Liverpool, but that market was a shade better than due on yesterday's New York close. There was some trade buying here as well as covering. Liverpool cables reported covering with foreign and local buying. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 9 to 17 points higher and the Indian spot quotation in Liverpool advanced 5 points.

The market held steady later in the morning. There may have been a little selling on the action of the stock market, but generally speaking, offerings were light and prices were sustained by further covering for over the approaching holidays. December contracts sold up to 7.06 and March to 7.35, or 5 to 7 points net higher and the market was within a point or two of these figures at midday. A private crop report issued here this morning placed the end-August condition at 65.4 and the indicated yield at 15,618,000 bales.

Futures closed barely steady, 3 to 4 pints lower. Oct. 6.75; Dec. 6.97-98; Jan. 7.06; March 7.25-26; May 7.42-43; July 7.59-60. Spot quiet; middling 6.80.

New Orleans Cotton Quiet.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Cotton had a quiet opening today. Although Liverpool came in much better than due the market here failed to respond, first trades showing no change to only one point up. The market improved slightly after the start, October trading at 6.81 and December at 7.04, or 3 to 4 points above yesterday's close.

The slightly easier tone at the start was attributed to continued favorable weather in the belt, a weak opening of the stock marke and a lack of desire to trade in advance of the holidays at the end of the week.

Near the end of the first hour, the market was quiet and steady with prices fluctuating narrowly, within a point or two.

The market ruled quiet all morning prices fluctuating narrowly within a range of not more than five points. The approach of the holiday and government report early next week and desire to await the action of Southern legislatures on the cotton problem induced traders to hold off for he time being.

October near mid-session traded up to 6.82 and December to 7.05, or 4 to 5 points above yesterday's close, and continued to rule at those figures at midsession.

One private crop estimate was issued this morning, making the crop 15,475,000 bales, based on a condition average of 62.9 per cent.

ACTIVE SELLING MOVEMENT THURSDAY IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Stocks declined in more active selling today. A sharp break in the morning was followed by a period of dullness but offerings increased in the final hour and the close was weak. U. S. Steel touched a new low for the bear market, off about 3 points. J. I. Case dropped 10 on omission of the dividend. Westinghouse lost 4 and there were declines of 1 to 3 in American Telephone, Allied Chemical, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Chrysler, New Haven, Eastman Kodak and American Can. Sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—(AP)—An active selling movement developed in the stock market today, as omission of J. I. Case's dividend, on top of the Lehigh Valley omission yesterday, intensified bearishness.

Case tumbled more than nine points by midday. Losses of a point or more were numerous, several rails again breaking to new lows. U. S. Steel, Chrysler and American Telephone lost about 2 points, and issues off 3 or more included New Haven, Westinghouse Electric, and Auburn. Mullins was a soft spot, losing about five points.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Plan Bring Slayer Of Five to Trial Soon as Possible

CLARRKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Harrison county authorities pushed plans today to bring Harry F. Powers, 42-year-old matrimonial agent and confessed slayer of two women and three children, to justice.

Murder warrants were ready for service and while the date for arraignment of the chubby killer was not disclosed, arrangements were being made to remove the prisoner from the little stone jail to the nearby office of a magistrate. Powers trial probably will be held during the November term of court.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Scattered buying based on relative strength of Liverpool quotations gave wheat a semblance of strength at the start today, but he gain was lost when commission houses sold. Trade in corn was light, but prices firmed upon appearance of some buying.

Wheat startld steady to 1-4 cent higher, but reacted later. Corn opened steady to 1-8 down and firmed afterward.

Wheat closed firmer, 1-8 to 3-8 cent higher than yesterday's final quotations; corn finished strong, 3-8 to 1 up; oats mixed, 1-8 lower to 1-4 higher, and provisions uneven, 10 cents down to 2 cents advance.

Special Session

reduction, the majority advocating reductions of 50 per cent.

On the basis of these returns it appeared highly improbable that a session would be called. It would require 16 votes to pass a bill in the senate and 21 to put it into immediate effect.

A majority of the senators who have not replied to the governor's questionnaire were reported away from their homes on vacations.

One hundred and one members of the house of representatives have told the governor they were in favor of the session and it was predicted the house would speedily pass a bill limiting cotton acreage. A majority of the members of the lower house, however, have expressed opposition to the Long plan and said they favored the plan advocated by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture of Texas, to reduce acreage 50 per cent.

The Long plan, approved in a law passed by the Louisiana legislature, would prohibit planting of cotton in 1932.

Swamped With Letters

The governor's office continued to be swamped with letters and telegrams urging him to call a special session immediately. Several days ago the governor stated the cotton farmers should concentrate their efforts on the members of the legislature since they were the once that would have to pass the law and that all the governor could do was to call them in session.

It was estimated that approximately 8000 letters have been received at the governor's office in the past week, urging him to act in the cotton crisis. Approximately 93 per cent of the persons answering the questionnaire favor a special session. A large majority advocated reduction in preference to a cotton holiday.

Cotton dealers and speculators were keeping in close touch with the situation and numerous telegrams and calls had been received by the governor's secretaries asking information as to when the call, if any, would be issued.

Sterling Should Indicate Action

DALLAS, Sept. 3.—(AP)—J. W. Hoopes, president of the Texas Bankers' association, said today that Governor Ross S. Sterling should indicate definitely whether he intends to call a special of the legislature to consider cotton farmers' relief proposals, or whether he intends to leave the situation in the hands of non-political forces.

"If Governor Sterling plans to call a special session, he should definitely announce his purpose," Hoopes declared. "Assuming that legislation which might be enacted would be of benefit to the cotton farmer, every day that the session is delayed means a loss to the farmer.

"The crop is beginning to move, and will soon be out of the farmers' hands. If any legislation which might be enacted would bring about an increase in price, its benefit fould be lost to the farmer if the cotton has passed out of his control.

"On the other hand, the threat of a special legislative session is restraining the work of others who are interested in the situation. It is a distinctly disturbing factor, and the sooner we know definitely what is to happen at Austin, the better off we will all be."

South Expects Texas Lead Cotton Matter

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The South today looked to Texas, producer of a third of the nation's cotton crop, to lead the way toward solution of the cotton surplus problem and resultant economic complications.

Two definite proposals have been made for state control of cotton production and both of these depend upon concurrence to become operative.

Louisiana has adopted a law prohibiting growth of cotton in 1932 and Governor Murray of Oklahoma has said he would initiate a proposed law to provide a board for control of cotton production.

The Luisiana plan, sponsored by Governor Huey P. Long who broadcast a vigorous appeal for its support last night by radio, becomes operative on concurrence by states producing three fourths of the cotton. Governor Murray's suggestion entails approval by a majority of the cotton producing states.

Yesterday, Governor Russell of Georgia announced a session of the Georgia legislature would be called to consider the cotton situation the minute a special session is called in Texas.

Governor Sterling said 14 of Texas' 31 senators and 101 members of the house replied favorably to his query as to a special session. The governor's office has received numerous telegrams urging a session on the cotton situation. Many of these, the office said, favored a 50 per cent reduction of acreage over the cotton prohibition plan Louisiana adopted at its special session recently.

Governor Gardner of North Carolina has asked Governor Sterling to join with him in calling a conference of governors, senators and others on the cotton situation. Governor Sterling wired Governor Gardner last night, however, he felt such a procedure might be "long drawn out."

In South Carolina, Governor Blackwood has expressed a wish to co-operate in cotton relief as has Governor Parnell of Arkansas.

Texas, as the largest cotton growing state, wields virtually a balance of power and many states have indicated, as has Georgia, they wish it to act before they call their legislatures into session.

Sees Extra Session Soon

WAXAHACHIE, Sept. 3.—(AP)—J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, expressed confidence here today that Gov. Ross S. Sterling would call a special session of the legislature immediately to consider sure he will proceed.

McDonald said the governor of South Carolina advised him that his state was ready to take action on the cotton situation, but was waiting to learn what Texas intends to do.

"Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana, is growing impatient, he wants the cotton growing section of the country to fall in line with his conservation plan," McDonald said. Gov. Long told me that Louisiana has taken the lead and that the South is waiting from Texas."

McDonald, who has been on a speaking tour of the state, returned to Austin today.

Murray Gives Legal Views on Curtailment

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Governor Murray, who would initiate laws in Oklahoma to curtail cotton and wheat acreage, said today the federal farm board "merely sought some excuse to say it had tried to aid the south" in its proposal for destruction of one-third the cotton crop.

The proposal, he said, "was made knowing it would not and could not be done. You can't take private property, even for public purposes, without compensation."

He also charged that forces which created the board did so to hold down prices of agricultural products.

"Some people think the national government should regulate production," the governor asserted. "The government hasn't police power within a state. The state, however, may use police power to prevent growth of a crop for purposes of soil preservation and to destroy pests." He also said efforts of states to control cotton production through the national government would be impractical because of lack of a congressional house majority from cotton and tobacco states.

"The federal government can and has joined states to accomplish such results," he added.

Should Form League

Cotton and wheat producing states, he continued, should form a league of states, not only for agriculture but for oil production control and ask the federal government to assist.

"The state may limit a crop or prevent its growth on the grounds of preserving public health or conserving soil but not on the theory of limiting production," Murray said.

Only once in history has the national government attempted to aid cotton farmers and that was when money was placed in southern banks to help market the crop, he added.

"It is futile for Oklahoma to act alone, but we can pass laws to be put in force when other states join. One measure that should be adopted would prevent growing of cotton for more than two consecutive years on the same soil in the interest of soil conservation.

"I am ready to adopt any plan the cotton states can agree upon but the trouble is getting them together."

PROMINENT SOUTH TEXAS POLITICIAN DIES AT WALLIS

LEONARD TILLOTSON, FORMER MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE, PASSED AWAY

WALLIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Leonard Tillotson, 67, of Sealy, former member of the state legislature and for many years a prominent political figure in South Texas, died at 7 p. m. yesterday at the home of his father-in-law, John Hammack, here.

Mr. Tillotson was born in 1863 near San Felipe, Waller county. For a number of years while a young man he engaged in journalism and publishing. From 1902 until 1929 he was president of the Sealy National bank, which he organized.

Mr. Tillotson was elected in 1910 to fill an unexpired legislative term, serving during two special sessions. In 1913, he was again elected, and served during the 33rd, 34th, 35th, and 36th sessions. # Five Priests Drowned When Boat Capsizes

EASDLEY, Que., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Five members of the Dominican order, vacationing at the summer camp of the order here, lost their lives in a boating accident on the Ottawa river today.

The rowboat in which they were crossing the river capsized when it was caught in a heavy swell. With one exception, all were residents of Quebec province.

The victims were: Rev. Father Harris, 28, Montreal; Rev. Father Rousseau, 25, of Three Rivers; Rev. Father Couture, 29, Levis; Rev. Father Nicole, 28, Quebec City; Rev. Father Siblere, 33, of Switzerland.

The one occupant of the illfated craft who was able to swim, Rev. Father Cougtemanche, managed to save his own life. After freeing himself from the upturned boat, he swam ashore, but was almost exhausted.

Pyramid of Dogs

Large group of educated canine coming Saturday, September 5th, with Gentry Bros.' Famous Shows.

PIONEER TRAINED ANIMAL SHOW TO BE HERE ON SATURDAY

Gentry Brothers Famous shows, the pioneer trained animal exhibition founded by Henry B. Gentry in 1888, is coming back. Mr. Gentry, in person, is owner and manager of the show. He returns to the road after fifteen years in retirement.

The younger parents of today well remember the Gentry Brothers dog and pony shows. Fifteen years ago their founder retired to regain health. For that reason the children of today have heard of his shows only as bedtime stories.

Gentry Brothers shows always catered to refined audiences, especially ladies and children. To the little ones of yester-year their coming was next to a visit from Santa Claus. Their name was a household word.

Gentry Brothers shows present performances different from all other shows. They are pionee shows that created a niche all their own in the show world.

Really, they are an old established educational institution. In the retinue of acting animals are ponies, dogs, monkeys, pigs and goats. Each plays an important part on the performance.

Distinctive acts are the military ponies, five colts in a chariot act with a monkey driver, a dog that walks on a high wire and another that swings on a rope while standing on his hind feet.

Gentry Brothers Famous shows will present performances at 2 and 8 o'clock in Corsicana Saturday, Sept. 5. The shows will be located at the north end of Twelfth street.

FIRE IN GALVESTON BUSINESS DISTRICT DOES HEAVY DAMAGE

FIVE PEOPLE BURNED AND INJURED DURING BLAZE STARTING IN BLAST

GALVESTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A raging fire swept through the Galveston business district last night, injuring five persons and causing damages estimated at $190,000.

Explosion of a gasoline stove in the Lyons Hardware store, on Postoffice street, quickly turned the building into an inferno, roaring up through the Four Seasons Hotel, which occupied the second and third floors.

Robert A. Lyons, Jr., chairman of the Galveston county democrat executive committee, was trapped for a moment by the flames and suffered severely from burns and shock.

Mrs. Marco Yurcovich, wife of the hotel proprietor, was painfully burned. V. G. Bunch, a barber who turned volunteer fireman in the emergency, suffered burns. Two firemen, Henry Droers and R. H. O'Donohoe, were cut and bruised as they battled for control of the fire.

Mrs. Yurcovich was burned while aiding her husband, who had been ill and was barely able to walk, to escape from the building.

Force of the explosion was terrific. Windows were shattered in the vicinity.

Several stores adjoining the hardware store were damaged by water. Losses were estimated as follows: Lyons Hardware Store, $80,000; Nathan's Clothing Store, $20,000; E. S. Levy Clothing Store, $25,000; Four Seasons Hotel, $50,000; Salzmann's Jewelry Store, $10,000; the offices of Dr. Black, the Star Drug Store and the Deats Paint Store were damaged to the extent of $5,000.

Firemen gained control of the fire after three hours work.

ABILENE, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin early today swept through the business district of Hamlin, 45 miles northwest of Abilene, rolling up a loss estimated at $125,000.

Flames raged for two and one-half hours before being brought under control. The First National Bank building, containing also the Western Union and American Railway Express offices, was badly damaged. Stocks virtually destroyed were those of Nobles Bros. Dry Goods Company, Jones Dry Goods Company, and Johnson Drug company.

Fire trucks from Stamford, 20 miles away, arrived at 12:30 a. m. making the run in 27 minutes.

BRANDS FEDERAL FARM BOARD HUGE AND COSTLY LEMON

PENNSYLVANIA GOVERNOR OUTSPOKEN IN ADRESS TO MISSOURI FRAMERS

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Assailing the federal farm board as "that huge and costly lemon," Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania said in an address here today that the "welfare of America depends upon justice to the American farmer—justice as the farmer himself understands justice—and not some alleged panacea devised by men who neither know his problems nor comprehend his point of view."

Addressing the annual convention of the Missouri Farmers' Association, Gov. Pinchot urged the farm industry "be placed on a basis of economic equality with other industries." He said the farmer, "for years the orphan of American politics, should be taken into the family and have a voice as to what type of relief should be attempted."

The present tariff, he charged, is detrimental to the farmer; said he believes in the equalization fee, and thinks the debenture plan "unquestionably has its merits."

The Pennsylvania governor, discussed as a possible candidate for the republican presidential nomination next year, criticized the railroads for seeking to increase freight rates at a time when the farmer "already is overburdened." The cost of distribution of farm products, he said, is twice as high now as it was before the world war.

"There are too many middle profits between producer and consumer," he said. "The middleman regularly pays the farmer too little and charges the consumer too much. And he does it on the wartime basis, when wheat was selli?ng five times and more per bushel tnan it sas been sold this year.

"Better methods of distribution could give the farmer a larger share of the consumer's dollar without costing the consumer a single additional cent. What we need, and need tremendously in that connection, is to take up the slack. Part of the cost of distribution is for freight. And this is the time chosen by the railroads for piling heavier freight rates than ever on the farmer's shoulders. In my opinion this is a time for reducing and not increasing the freight burden of the unburdened farmer.

Needs Credit.

"Years ago when the farmer asked for economic justice he was given more credit. He needs credit now to help him carry this year's crop. But in general what the farmer needs today is not more credit to go more into debt, but better prices the better to get him out of debt."

Gov. Pinchot urged the farmer and city laborers to hang together, but added he was not "talking about political control, and I do not refer to a third party."

Tht problem of farm relief, he said, has been dealt with in congress not as the farmer wanted it handled, but as "the city men decided it must be handled. * * * * The farmers asked for the equalization fee. They asked for the debenture plan. Instead they were given the huge and costly lemon, the farm board, for which they did not ask."

Speaking of the proposal to reduce acreage and prevent crop surpluses, he said:

"I am not saying that it should not be done. But I point out that it is easier said than done, and that it has its disadvantages."

Commenting on the tariff, Gov. Pinchot said he was "a protectionist, but the kind of tariff I believe in is one whose good effects appear not only in the profits of capital and in tne wages of labor, but also in the returns of the farmer. * * * The government has forgotten that our country cannot prosper unless the farmer not only produces on the farm, but sells his crops well, and lives well with his family on the farm. It is high time to keep that central fact in mind."

Blazing The Columbus Trail, Two Men Invaded Asia Minor

Into The Battlefield Of The Ages, The Land That Is Now Turkey, The First Christian Missionaries Carried The Good News That Is For All Men

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Two young aviators recently landed in Turkey, in a record-breaking non-stop flight from America. Their arrival was less important, but more sensational, than that of another expedition to the same region, nearly two thousand years ago, when a little company of Christian missionaries headed by Barnabas and Paul, set foot on Asia Minor at Jerga, from the Cyprus boat.

What is now Turkey was then Asia Minor, part of Rome's domains. Before ever there was a Rome, this region had been a storied battleground of empire. The great names of classical history and literature are bound up with the soil of Asia Minor; which is today, as it always has been, a breeding place of destiny. This huge peninsula, surrounded by the Mediterranean, the Agean and the Black Seas, has been forever the bridge between Europe and Asia; and the scene of the greatest racial migrations.

Thus there was a sort of ethnic and historical and imperial logic in the plan of Paul and Barnabas to carry Christianity thither. Ever since then Asia Minor has been as associated with the progress and changes of the Christian religion—even as it has been in the past decade, in ways little understood by the Christian world. Momentous as were the comings of Cyrus and Caesar and Tamerlane and the Crusaders to Asia Minor, they were of smaller significance than the unheralded landing of these just Christian missionaries.

Building Bigger Than We Know.

In this quiet fashion was launched the enterprise that has affected all history, and changed the world. Little did the two men dream that they had begun a movement which would swiftly reach to Rome and long afterward be carried by Columbus to a world then undiscovered; and subsequently be borne across the Pacific to Asia, the continent of the Gaspel's beginning. Nobody can ever foresee the end of a great deed of faith and of faithfulness.

Epochal indeed was this bit of pioneering; and the International Lesson Committee recognizes it as such by the title, "Turning to the Gentles." Henceforth Christianty would cease to be a distinctively Jewish enterprise. Hard as it was for the first Christians, themselves Jews, to recognize the universality of the Good News, that truth was nevertheless implied in the nature of the Message.

To this day it is difficult for many Christians to believe in a world-wide Evangel. They cannot quite think that the Chinese, the Africans and the Indians mean the same to God as the Americans and British. Recently I looked in upon some meetings of the World's Y. M. C. A. convention; and perceived that, even after several sessions, the English-speaking delegates found the translation of the addresses into other languages rather "funny." It is hard to dislodge the idea that God is an exclusively English-speaking God. Yet there are signs on the horizon that the real religious leadership of the world today is not on the North American Continent, nor in the British Isles, but in Paul's homeland of Asia.

We have a world bank and a world League of Nations, and dozens of world-wide commercial and scientific organizations; but we have grasped Paul's teaching of a world Gospel, to which all men are entitled; and which produces the same fruits wherever accepted. If this is not a missionary Lesson it is nothing.

A Man Who Missed His Chance.

At the very outset of this Lesson we have a personal incident which a modern journalist would have "played up" more fully than does Historian Luke. Dissinsion arose in the first missionary expedition. The young man, John Mark, quit the party cold. He had won the privilege of going as attendant upon the older men; and how proud his plous mother, Mary, must have been back in her Jerusalem home.

We do not clearly know the reason for this defection. Apparently, the young man's nerve failed him. Adventurous youth flunked when fearless maturity pushed on. Perhaps Mark got homesick. It may be that his dignity was affected by the nature of his tasks. Possibly he found Paul's ways too exacting. "No man is a hero to his valet"—because his valet is not a hero. Nnearness does not always lead to appreciation; about all that one ever hears in Washington concerning the statesmen there is trivial and derogatory gossip. Sometimes we are too near the instrument to catch the meaning of the music. A few evenings ago I stood beneath the tower of Toronto university when the chimes began to play. The noise was harsh and jangling, and I could not distinguish the tune. But when I had walked half a mile away, the strains of the national anthem were melodious and beautiful. There is such a thing as being so close to a great man that his real greatness is not apparent; and that may have been John Mark's case.

Serious consequences followed the young man's desertion. It caused a misunderstanding between Paul and Barnabas, Mark's uncle, that later lead to their separation; and the disappearance of great Barnabas from the record. True, John Mark himself repented, and later made for himself a place as Paul's companion and friend. But there was no retrieving that first blunder, of timidity, querulousness, or whatever else it may have been.

Where Americans Dig.

Up on the great Asia Minor plateau, over Roman roads to Roman provincial capitals, the missionaries journeyed. Our lesson deals with their experience on two Sabbaths in Pisidian Antioch—not the Antioch in Syria, of course, though named for the same Greek general. The University of Michigan has been excavating at Antioch—now a mere village, off all beaten tracks—and has uncovered contemporary ruins and inscriptions.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha told me that he is eager to have more American archaeologists come to Turkey; and his invitation is being accepted; so that we are due to hear more, by way of the excavator's spade, of Paul's times and travels and cities. Asia Minor is the greatest field now open to archaeology. The early Christian remains and inscriptions are abundant; and wait for only scholars to follow the trail blazed by Sir William Ramsay.

A Modern Sermon.

Like good Jews, Paul and Barnabas, went to the local synagogue on the Sabbath. Courteously, the strangers were invited to speak, if they had aught to say. Whereupon Paul stood up and preached a great expository sermon, summarizing the Old Testament Story and carrying it down to its fulfillment in Jesus Christ.

It was a meaty discourse. Many modern sermons are too thin, consisting only of moral platitudes and pious phrases and jejune anecdotes. Possessors and professors of the Book fail to preach it enough. Scriptural texts are taken merely as points of departure. All the while hungry shreep look up, waiting to be fed. And some ministers wonder why their attenuated editorils do not attract the people or build up saints or convert sinners!

When an honest, devout man—and the great majority of ministers of the Gospel are such—presents a carefully-prepared sermon, full of Bible facts and Bible teaching, all itading up to Christ and Him crucified, he is certain to get results; as did Paul at Antioch.

Moody and the Preacher.

This man Paul was a Christ-engrossed preacher. He was resolved to preach nothing but Christ and Him crucified; yet within the scope of that theme he found room for profound philosophy, and for all the range of Scripture and of human living. Recently I have seen reprinted this quotation from Dwight L. Moody, the layman-evangelist whose preaching affected two continents.

"I was in a city in Europe, and a young minister came to me and said, 'Moody, what makes the difference between your success in preaching and mine? Either you are right and I am wrong, or I am right and you are wrong.'

"Said he, "You make a good deal difference is for you have heard me and I have never heard you preach. What is the difference?

"Said he, 'You make a good deal out of the death of Christ, and I dont' make anything out of it. I preach the life.'

"Said I, 'What do you do with this: "He hath borne our sins in His own body on the tree?"'

"Said I, 'What do you do with this: "He was wounded for our transgressions; He was bruised for our iniquities, and with His stripes we are healed?"'

"Said he, 'I never preached that.'

"'Well,' said I again, 'what do you do with this, "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin?"'

"Said he, 'I never preached that.'

"I asked him, 'what do you preach?'

"'Well,' he says, 'I preach a moral essay.'

"Said I, 'My friend, if you take the blood out of the Bible, it is all a myth to me.'

'Said he, 'I think the whole thing is a sham.'

"'Then,' said I, 'I advise you to get out of the ministry very quickly; I would not preach a sham. If the Bible is untrue, let us stop preaching, and come out at once like men, and fight against it if it is a sham and untrue; but if these things are true, and Jesus Christ left heaven and came into this world to shed His blood and save sinners, then let us lay hold of it and preach it, in season and out of season.'"

"We Turn to the Gentiles."

So successful was Paul's sermon upon the Christ of prophecy that the whole city turned out to hear him on the followng Sabbath. This aroused ecclesiastical jealousy and opposition on the part of Jews. Whereupon the missionaries spoke out boldly, "It was necessary that the word of God should first be spoken to you. Seeing that ye thrust it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, lo, weturn to the Gentiles:"

Sad news, that, for Israel; but joy for the world outside. For the Gentiles in great numbers believed, and the Word was spread throughout the whole region. True, the Jews raised a riot—pastmasters at that are—and caused the misionaries to be mobbed, and driven out of the city; but that was a small matter, since the Gospel itself was thereby advertised and extended. The door had been flung wide open to the Gentile world—which means to all of us.

NEFF IS OPPOSED TO COMMISSION'S PRORATION PLANS

AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Pat M. Neff, member of the Texas railroad commission, this afternoon indicated his disapproval of the East Texas oil field allowable proposed by the two members of the commission. It was proposed that each well be permitted to produce 225 barrels daily.

Neff stated the projected order of the commission merely would start a race to see who could drill wells the fastest and would result in an orgy of drilling with rigs running day and night.

'When the commission has adopted an efficient oil and gas ratio, has provided for greater spacing of wells and has taken steps to prevent physical waste in drilling and operating methods it seems to me we have gone far enough," Neff stated. "It is no concern of the commission how much a well can produce if it produces without waste of oil and gas or how low the price of il goes. We should be concerned solely with prevention of physical waste."

The East Texas field was placed under martial law August 17 by Governor Sterling. Immediately prior to the martial law proclamation, production in the field was estimated at between 750,000 and 1,400,000 barrels daily with oil being quoted at as low as five cents a barrel.

Since the shutdown the price of East Texas oil in storage has been quoted from 50 to 70 cents per barrel.

AGREEMENT BELIEVED HAVE FINALLY BEEN REACHED FOR ST. LAWRENCE DEVELOPMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—American engineers have worked out plans for the development of the St. Lawrence waterway which call for two dams in the international section.

With the two dam system as a basis for agreement, it was said on high authority today that the United States is ready to proceed immediately on negotiations with Canada to push forward the project. Canadian and American engineers heretofore have disagreed on the necessity for two dams, the Canadians holding out for two and the Americans maintaining that only one would be necessary.

The impending return to Washington of Major W. D. Herridge, brother-in-law of Premier Bennett of Canada, and recently appointed minister to the United States, has revived hopes among Washington's highest officials for quick and definite action on the part of the Ottawa government. Herridge is expected to arrive in the capital next week.

The last formal exchange between the two governments on the subject was on Sept. 2 last year. The American government is a note to Canada asked if the Bennett government was prepared to proceed and make the project a reality. Only a bare formal acknowledgement of that note was received from Ottawa.

Meanwhile, Hanford P. McNider, American minister to Canada, has had many informal talks with the prime minister with the view to carrying out President Hoover's desire that the project be expedited.

These conversations were interrupted when the premier himself came to Washington and personally discussed the subject with President Hoover.

The financing of the project is the most important remaining subject for diplomatic negotiation. The two governments are in practical areement that power derived from the dams necessary to magke the river navigable throughout should pay the costs of the works. It is understood in Washington, however, that Canada has not found a market for her share of the huge power resources, and is reluctant to allow American interests to absorb all of it.
